

Negroes' Registration Barriers Ended Today

Mississippi's Poll Tax Faces Court Challenge From Justice Department

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department presses the button today to start enforcement of the new law against obstacles to Negro voting.

The department is going into court at Jackson, Miss., to challenge that state's poll tax. Federal voting registration machinery will be set up next week in still undesignated areas in the South, and additional poll tax suits will be filed.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas B. Katzenbach had no prediction of how many new Negro voters the law would bring to the polls.

"As the President said, this act and its enforcement open the gates," he told a reporter. "Walking through them is up to individual Negroes throughout the South."

Negro Registrations

"But we would hope, in any event, that it is now possible for a good many thousand Negro citizens to be registered by the end of the year."

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., civil-rights leader, has said workers expect to help some 900,000 Southern Negroes register by the end of the month. He hailed the new law Friday as one that "will go a long way toward removing all the obstacles to the right to vote."

President Johnson had some advice for Negroes when he went to the Capitol Friday to sign the bill amid historic ceremony.

"You must register," Johnson said. "You must vote. And you must learn so your choice advances your interest and the interest of the nation."

By publication in the Federal Register today, the Justice Department brings about specific application of the ban on voter qualification tests in areas where less than half the adult population balloted in last November's election. The tests are banned in Alabama, Louisiana, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia, Alaska, part of North Carolina and scattered counties elsewhere.

The Justice Department plans to move quickly, but not massively, in enforcement.

The President said federal examiners will be sent to from 10 to 15 counties Tuesday to start registering eligible men and women. The counties will be named Monday.

Also on Tuesday, Katzenbach will file suits challenging poll taxes in Texas, Alabama and Virginia.

Atty. Gen. Joe Patterson of Mississippi said in Jackson the state will defend its position that the U.S. Constitution does not prohibit poll taxes in state and local elections.

11 Highway Deaths Friday On State Roads

Sends Year-Long Traffic Spiraling Up to Nearly 550

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Eleven persons were killed Friday in an epidemic of death on Wisconsin streets and highways.

Seven of the victims were in their early 20s or younger. The rash of fatalities skyrocketed the year-long traffic toll to 548, compared with 625 one year ago.

Three persons died in a single one-car accident. Another one-car crash took two other lives.

David Jankord, 19, Bloomington, Minn., was injured fatally Friday when the car in which he was riding collided with the rear of another auto stopped for a minor accident on Interstate 94 near Lake Mills.

Three persons died in a single one-car accident. Another one-car crash took two other lives.

Six of the victims were in the early 20s or younger.

Three members of a Milwaukee family were injured fatally Friday when their car overturned on a Marinette County road. Mrs. Mary D. Weed, 32, and her stepson, Wesley, 9, were killed outright. Another stepson, Daniel, 10, died later in a Green Bay hospital.

Two other children were among the victims.

A five-year-old girl, Panny Kosterecz, was struck and killed by a car at an intersection near her home in Racine. Police said the auto had faulty brakes and charged the driver with reckless homicide.

Boat Missing, Two Rescued On Michigan

TWO RIVERS (AP) — Coast Guard ships and planes fanned out again over the broad expanse of Lake Michigan today searching for a missing yacht after a stormy night in which two other vessels had to be towed to port.

A Chicago insurance executive and his wife spent seven hours adrift in their cabin cruiser, lost and out of gas, before the Coast Guard plowed through five-foot waves to reach it shortly before midnight.

"I kept telling my wife it was getting calm, but it was mainly to calm myself," said Sanford H. Lederer, 43.

Still missing after an overnight search was another cabin cruiser, the Kenmar, from which Mayday calls were heard shortly before sunset Friday as a summer squall churned the lake.

There were few clues to the Kenmar's ownership, origin, occupants or fate.

The Coast Guard at Two Rivers, coordinating the search, said the harbor master at Port Washington reported a 28-foot cruiser, labeled the Kenmar, left there Friday morning bound north for either Sheboygan or Sturgeon Bay.

As rains swept the lake, the tanker, Polaris, picked up the Mayday call from a vessel identifying itself as the Kenmar.

Two Veteran Actors died Friday. Everett Sloane, 55, who has concentrated on television acting since World War II, died in his Brentwood, Calif., home, reportedly from an overdose of sleeping pills. Nancy Carroll, 60, a film star of the 1920's and 30's, was found in her New York apartment after she failed to appear for a summer stock production of "Never Too Late," in which she was appearing with Bert Lahr. Cause of death was not determined. (AP Wirephotos)

A Wrecked Drawbridge sprawls across the Trenton Channel of the Detroit River near Grosse Ile after it was rammed by the ore freighter John T. Hutchinson Friday. The freighter missed the opening of the bridge and topped one section of the structure and five automobiles into the channel close to the river's mouth at Lake Erie. Apparently there were no injuries.

Viet Cong Launch Mortar Barrage in Mekong Delta

Casualties 'Light'; Guerrilla Forces Suffering Heavy Losses

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist guerrillas set up a steady barrage of mortar attacks early today against government outposts in a Mekong Delta region south of the capital, a U.S. military spokesman said.

The Viet Cong shelled the Vietnamese positions, ranging from 100 miles to 125 miles southwest of Saigon, with 60mm and 81mm mortar rounds, an officer reported.

Vietnamese casualties were reported as "light" in some of the attacks. There were no reports of casualties in others.

In another development, a government unit was reported to have uncovered a major Viet Cong medical facility in a jungle area 35 miles southwest of Saigon.

The medical facility reportedly consisted of 14 wards, each capable of holding from 10 to 20 patients. Five tons of medicine, equipment and supplies were found.

Other Viet Cong products seized included 2,000 "items of arms and ammunition" and 1,000 tons of rice, officials said.

In other action, the Viet Cong renewed a mortar attack at the special forces camp at Duc Co, 215 miles northeast of Saigon. The camp in Pleiku Province in the highlands was the scene of heavy fighting earlier in the week, but the spokesman said

Boy Fireflies Learn Truth About Girls—But Too Late

WASHINGTON (AP) — An article in Science Magazine, researcher Lloyd said it's been known for a long time that firefly females of the Genus Photinus are carnivorous.

They are fireflies, sneaky sirens that lure glibble males to trysting spots by blinking their lamps at them — then the girls devour the boys.

It's a downright violation of the love lantern system fireflies use in their legitimate courting, said entomologist James E. Lloyd.

And these deadly females, he said, apparently have achieved the dastardly deed by cracking the signal code of some other types of fireflies — and then mimicking it to make males of the other breed believe they're being called by the nice girls they usually date.

Throwing light on all this in an article in Science Magazine, researcher Lloyd said it's been known for a long time that firefly females of the Genus Photinus are carnivorous.

And, while they'll make a lunch of most any other brand of firefly, one of their favorite dishes is the male of the Genus Photinus.

Scientists have suspected the Photinus girls snare the Photinus boys by imitating the characteristic lamp signals of the latter clan — but no one previously had caught them in the act.

That's where Lloyd came in. Armed with a flashlight to simulate the winking signals of fireflies, he invaded some prime firefly haunts in Florida, Illinois and Virginia.

He flashed the mating calls of various species of Photinus males and out of the night sky would come answering signals from Photinus females who apparently could mimic a whole repertoire of signals.

Lloyd said he watched a Photinus female flash an invitation and, a little later, lurching on a sadly deceived Photinus.

Critics Protesting Viet Nam Policies

Hundreds of Demonstrators in Washington, California, Indiana

WASHINGTON (AP) — Critics and a few professors patting by the hundreds demonstrated in Washington, California and Indiana against President Johnson's Viet Nam policies.

In Washington Friday about 600 persons attended a four-hour rally in a park across from the White House to mark the beginning of what was called a four-day assembly of unrepresented people. A smaller number staged a sit-in at a White House gate. Scores of police were on guard against outbreaks.

In Emeryville, Calif., about 300 pickets tried unsuccessfully to block a 22-car train hauling troops to the Oakland, Calif., Army terminal.

In Bloomington, Ind., more than 100 Indiana University students and a few professors planned to climax its protest meeting Monday with a march from the Washington monument to the Capitol.

A 100-member delegation of the assembly sought unsuccessfully to present a "declaration of conscience" to President Johnson. When he refused to receive it personally, about 60 pickets staged a sit-in at an entrance to the White House grounds.

The sit-in party sought to continue its vigil through the night, but by midnight it had dwindled to a band of about a dozen sharing one water jug and a few packs of cigarettes.

There were two arrests. President and Mrs. Johnson were away for much of the sit-in. They left about 9 p.m. for Camp David, presidential retreat near Thurmont, Md.

At Least Nine Dead in Crash

LAKEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — A light plane crashed into a field near a housing development today, spewing bodies and parts of the plane against houses and fences.

"We have nine bodies counted so far," said a Lakewood sheriff's deputy.

"One body is hanging from a living room window," said the deputy.

The plane's engine plowed through a garage. Other parts of the plane ripped through cinder block and chain link fences surrounding backyards.

"It's an area of mostly middle class homes," said a sheriff's deputy.

Strangling of Two Sorority Sisters

Muscular, 22-Year-Old Texas U. Student Charged in Coeds' Deaths

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A muscular 22-year-old University of Texas student was charged with murder Friday night in the slaying of two young women whose nearly nude bodies were found July 30 in a weed field.

James C. Cross Jr., handsome son of a Fort Worth chain store advertising executive, was charged in the death of Susan Rigby and Shirley Ann Stark, both 21, beautiful, brunette and from Dallas.

The complaint against Cross alleges he strangled both of the Chi Omega sorority sisters.

State Police Director Homer Garrison told a news conference that Cross voluntarily signed a statement. Cross then was taken to the Travis County Jail where he was held without bond.

Goes to Grand Jury
Dist. Atty. Tom Blackwell said the case would go to the grand jury "as soon as possible." He said he "absolutely" would seek the death penalty.

Filing of the charges against Cross climaxed a day-and-night investigation that started out as a missing persons search.

The young women last were seen alive July 18. Their decomposed bodies were found in a vacant lot on the north edge of Austin 12 days later. They had come to Austin to enroll Miss Rigby in summer classes at the University. Miss Stark left the university in June.

Garrison declined to say whether the statement mentioned any sexual assault on the women.

In a statement to Austin police early in the investigation, Cross said he had dated Miss Stark several times and had talked to her over the telephone July 18.

Garrison quoted Cross' statement as saying the women were slain in Austin in mid-July of 1964. The police director refused, however, to divulge the alleged motive or the place where the statement said — if it did — the women were killed. He said the statement implicated no one other than Cross.

"Case is Clear"
Officers said Cross came to headquarters alone to make the statement.

Garrison said, "we are pretty proud of the investigation. As far as we're concerned, the case is clear."

The black-haired Cross was a sophomore in arts and sciences. He served three years in the Army, including service in Japan.

A check in Fort Worth showed he had no police record. Richard H. Udlock, a Fort Worth neighbor of Cross, described the youth as friendly and said he considered him "nothing but No. 1." He said Cross planned to become an English teacher.

Officers described the 5-foot-9, 145-pound youth as muscular.

R. Gordon Pope Dies, Insurance Firm Official

Neenah Man Served With Equitable Reserve Association

NEENAH—R. Gordon Pope, 64, vice president and director of fraternal activities for the Equitable Reserve Association, died unexpectedly at 3:30 a.m. today.

Pope, who was born here Oct. 13, 1900, joined ERA in 1925 after graduation from Carroll

Pope

College, serving as a traveling auditor. In 1930, he moved into the home office as commission department manager.

This led to supervision of the accounting department. In 1941 he was named to head conservation and assembly accounting. Named Auditor

Later in 1941, the insurance official was named supreme auditor upon the death of W. G. Brown. He served in that post until 1950, when he was appointed secretary to an unexpired term. He later was elected treasurer, relinquishing that post to become vice president and director of fraternal activities in 1963.

During his membership in the Neenah assembly, he served as president from 1933 — 1937 and went to all ERA state conventions since 1934. From 1938 on he was a member of the supreme assembly.

In 1953, Pope was elected president of the secretaries' section of the National Fraternal Congress. He also was an active member of the Wisconsin Fraternal Congress and a member of the board of flag day committee.

Active Mason
Pope was active in Masonic affairs and was a member of Elisha Kent Kane No. 61 F and AM, Neenah chapter 88, RAM, Scottish rites and Tripoli Shrine of Milwaukee.

He was married to the former Clelia Buxton, Appleton. Mrs. survives along with his mother, Mrs. Charles Pope, Neenah, and one brother, Howard, Oshkosh.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at First Presbyterian Chapel with the Rev. John E. Bouquet officiating. Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Westgor Funeral Home from 2 p.m. Sunday until 1 p.m. Monday. Masonic rites will be conducted at the funeral home at 8 p.m. Sunday.

$450 Damage to Two Cars in Collision At Mill, Main Streets

MENASHA—Damage estimated at $450 to two cars resulted from a traffic mishap Friday afternoon in downtown Menasha.

Menasha police said an auto driven by Wayne Nelsen, 18, 224 John St., Neenah, collided with a car driven by Marvin J. Goss, 44, 708 Arthur St., Menasha, when the Goss vehicle made a left turn onto Mill Street from Main Street in front of the Nelsen car.

Damage to the Nelsen car was listed at $250 to the right Chamber of Commerce officials' front and fender. The right side of the Goss vehicle received an estimated $200 damage.

Co-workers for the post's membership drive will be appointed by Fess Parker, Glenn Ford and membership chairman Ronald O'Brien.

Steps From Darkness

Hooded Figure Who Scares Women Sought by Authorities

A hooded figure which steps out of the darkness onto county roads to flag down cars being driven by women, is being sought by county authorities today after a Chicago woman said the figure "terrified" her early Friday morning on County Trunk A.

The woman said the figure was a nude man wearing only a hood over his head. She said he drove a dark car and was tall and hefty.

The Chicago woman, who was alone in her car except for a French poodle dog, said she tried to turn around and drive toward Appleton when she first saw the man about 1:30 a.m.,

Comedy Opens Tonight

Attic Theatre Veteran Actors Play Leads in The Lady's Not for Burning

Attic Theatre veterans Jack Swanson and Anne Glasner play the leading roles in Christopher Fry's "The Lady's Not for Burning" opening tonight at Lawrence Music-Drama Center.

The arena-staged play has an interesting mounting in the university's experimental theater. It is played on a corner-placed stage with the audience only on two sides. The setting is the interior of a 15th century home, furnishing a contrasting backdrop for the Fry characters as they unfold the comedy plot through witty, ironic dialogue. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. today, 7:15 p.m. Sunday.

The robust tale tells of a world-weary, former soldier who wants to die, a condemned young woman who wants to live, and townspeople who hold malice toward none but regard justice and convenience as Stuart H. Koch, Appleton, general agent of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., has been elected second vice president of NML's General Agents' Association. The General Agents' Association represents NML's 97 general agencies coast-to-coast.

Election was at Northwestern Mutual's home office in Milwaukee, during the 86th annual meeting of NML's over-all association of agents.

Terry Noack in Akron

Soap Box Champion Races in All-American

AKRON, Ohio — Terry Noack, 1965 Fox Cities Soap Box Derby champion, is racing today against a record 251 other contestants in the All-American Soap Box Derby.

Noack is accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Noack, and Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce officials, Don Long and Frank Mueller.

Terry will be vying for one of the college scholarships which are awarded to the top nine finishers and a total $30,000. The Chevrolet, the national sponsor.

A full schedule of events preceded today's big racing to members of the Lenz-Gazecki Post 152 at a meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday. Thursday featured Tuesday. Commander Earl B. O'Brien will give the report. Co-workers for the post's membership drive will be appointed by Fess Parker, Glenn Ford and membership chairman Ronald O'Brien.

Movie and television stars Frankie Avalon appeared Friday.

Going to Europe

Swanson, a 1965 graduate of Lawrence University, has an imposing list of stage credits earned in Attic Theatre. Lawrence University Theatre and his dramatic work at Ohio Wesleyan and the University of Minnesota. He will leave for Europe in the fall to study at the London Academy of Music and Dramatic Art.

Mrs. Glasner, vice president and long-time member of Attic, has played leading roles in many Attic shows, including the mother in last summer's "Bad Seed" and the part of Ruth in the musical "Wonderful Town."

"Family" Threesome
This particular show has another interesting facet in the appearance of a "family" threesome. James and Marilyn Auer, both active Attic members, are husband and wife in real life, and Mrs. Auer's father, James Mills, makes his debut in the comedy role of the chaplain. This is Mills' first venture in the acting side of theater and his role frequently interpreted as the "spokesman for the author."

This villainous actor in real life is a salesman of industrial chemicals. Auer, past president of Attic and present recording secretary, plays the justice with the name of Edward Tapper.

Importation Blamed For Pine Infection

Appleton Boy Recovering From Dog Bite

Too Early to Tell if Surgery to Restore Nose Was Success

A 2-year-old Appleton boy is in satisfactory condition at Appleton Memorial Hospital today following operations Wednesday after his nose was bitten off by a dog.

Authorities said today it was too early to tell if Keith Hanagan's nose will be completely restored. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hanagan, 727 W. Harris St.

The boy was bitten by a dog owned by a relative in his home Wednesday afternoon when the boy approached a suitcase owned by the dog's master.

The dog and its owner, John Rasmussen, San Diego, Calif., had traveled from California for a visit. The dog was put to death with the owner's consent.

Surgeons Wednesday grafted the nose in place and are waiting to see if the nose will be restored to normalcy. The youth's mother said some plastic surgery may be necessary in the future.

Bernard E. Miller, Once Clintonville Mail Carrier, Dies

CLINTONVILLE — Bernard E. (Ben) Miller, 84, a retired mail carrier and railway line electrician, died Friday after a five-month illness.

Miller, 234 S. Main St., served as a Star Route mail carrier for 13 years, transporting mail from the post office to the airport.

He took over the postal position after being employed by the Chicago and North Western Railway Co. from 1905-1947. Prior to his transfer here he served with the Western Union Telegraph Co. in Minneapolis as a lineman electrician from 1898-1905.

He is survived by his widow, one brother and two sisters. The funeral will be at 11 a.m. Monday at St. Rose Catholic Church with the Rev. Thaddeus Kosczarek officiating. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

Bay Harlequin Players Debut With Premiere of Way Out Drama

BY JAY JOSLYN

GREEN BAY—Mark Berman has a lot to say in his "Pictures at an Inhibition" which was premiered Friday night by the Harlequin Players at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay Center, but he says it too often.

However, the Players under the direction of Jack Frisch in their first outing here, give Berman's outpouring a competent performance.

The production at the center Friday night and tonight is a landmark for the area. It is the debut of the Green Bay-based WAUPACA — Critical outbreaks of insect infection now affecting the state's pine trees, which then spreads to other trees, he said.

"Weevils and moths are creating the most damage," meeting of the Wisconsin Christmas Tree Producers' Association in Waushara, Portage, Green Lake, Marquette, Adams and Jackson counties are the most seriously affected by the insects because of the light soil in which the trees are grown, he said, but pointed out that trees grown in heavy soil have little or no insect trouble.

Tree Producing Counties
According to Trenk, there now are more than 10 million trees being raised for future Christmas trees. Of these between 2.5 and 3 million will go on the market during this coming Christmas season. Waushara County leads the state in Christmas tree production, followed by Jackson County. Other large producing counties are Waupaca, Adams and Portage.

During the day trees were displayed and judged. The grand champion tree and other class winners were announced at a banquet Friday night in Waupaca Country Club.

The more than 175 growers attending the convention toured local tree plantations today after reviewing the winning trees.

Local plantations toured, were the Shambau General Tree Corporation plantation with the state's share of a new federal quota of 27,400 instead of 17,000.

The increase was ordered by President Lyndon Johnson last month because of the mounting crisis in Viet Nam.

Local draft board authorities of the tour was at the Phil Chase Tree Plantation near Kusel Lake. Chase has been a pioneer in the planting of balsam fir and spruce on light soils in Central Wisconsin.

All the plantations visited this month. One official said, "If they receive induction physical notices, you can be assured they will be drafted if they pass their physicals."

Local authorities asked that former servicemen and county residents who have not updated their draft status for some time report to the draft board in the county courthouse annex to have the status brought up to date.

Changes in address, marital status, service time, and size of family are to be reported to the board.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words Often Misused: Do not write, "Please send the paper to me and I shall return same promptly." Say, "and I shall return it promptly."

Often Mispronounced: Precedence. Pronounce pre-see-dens, accent on second syllable, not the first.

Often Misspelled: Baccalaureate: observe the two "c's" and all the vowels.

Synonyms: Burn (verb), blaze, brand, char, consume, cremate, flame, flash, ignite, kindle, scorch, set on fire, since.

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: Chaotic.

Write a Jumbled Letter And Send It to a Friend

BY CAPPY DICK

Today's fun-project provides a way of stumping a friend back home when you are away at camp, or a friend who has gone away for the summer while you stay at home.

Send him a scrambled letter. Here's how to do it:

First, write the letter in the ordinary way. For example, your letter might say:

"Dear Sam: Last night we went on a night hike. It was great fun. Mr. Guthrie, in charge of recreation, gave us flashlights. We saw rabbits, raccoons and a skunk. I won't be home until after Labor Day. So write me. Your friend, Dick."

Use Words at Random

With this properly written letter before you, use another sheet of paper to write the scrambled version like that shown in the illustration above. Use the words at random. As you use a word from the regular letter, draw a circle around it so you won't use it again.

In sending the scrambled letter to your friend, enclose a note telling that he can figure out what the letter says if he Cuts the words apart and fits them together to make sense. You can be sure it will take him plenty of time to accomplish this!

Clintonville High Truckers to Start Football Practice

CLINTONVILLE — The first football practice for the Clintonville High School Truckers is set for 10 a.m. Aug. 23. Coach Tony Ellis said that candidates may wear shorts and tennis shoes if they do not have football shoes. For this first practice, Helping Ellis will be Robert Hanson, assistant coach, and Don Jirschele.

The coach also announced that all players must have physical and dental examinations prior to coming out for football.

Riverside Players to be Featured on WNAM Radio Valley Center

NEENAH—The background of Riverside Players and their current productions will be discussed at 5:45 p.m. Sunday on WNAM Radio Fox Valley Center.

Sandra Bruehl, 1806 Lake Shore Drive, Menasha, will ask Kenneth Anderson, new drama director at FVC, about his work with the Neenah group, for which he is well known throughout the community.

Anderson will weigh the advantages and disadvantages of the arena style theatre, such as he has been using at Riverside. Anderson will adapt the Center's Fine Arts Room to the arena style and experiment with musicals for the first time at the Center next year.

Visitors wishing to sit in with children from pre-school age through third grade may visit at 9 or 10:30 a.m. and 1 and 2:30 p.m. Wednesday while sessions for students from grades four through six are at 9 and 10:30 a.m. Tuesday and the upper grades and high school sessions are at 1 and 2:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Appleton May Get Water Referendum

Mayor Expected to Call Council Meeting to Discuss Possibility

Appleton Mayor Clarence Mitchell is expected to call a special city council meeting sometime next week to consider a possible referendum concerning the city's future water supply.

A condensation of various reports on water supplies in the Fox Valley area was to have been ready for a meeting of the city council Wednesday night.

However, Public Works Director Robert Bues said the project involved more work than he had initially expected and he was unable to complete it in time for the meeting.

Bues said the report should be complete and available to city officials by Monday afternoon.

Oppose Plan For Remaping

Legislative Group in Kaukauna Against Outagamie Proposal

KAUKAUNA — The city's legislative committee opposed Wednesday the county redistricting plan submitted by Outagamie County Executive Secretary Alvin Woehler.

Committee members presented their views to the executive committee of the county board in a meeting of the Kaukauna supervisors, the legislative committee, members of the executive committee, Woehler, and regional planned Eugene Franchett.

Woehler, in an effort to follow the principal of one man, one vote as required by state law for reorganization of county boards, has drawn up a plan showing how supervisor districts should be set in Kaukauna.

His plan crosses ward boundaries and is only slightly different from the ward plan adopted earlier this year by the city council in redistricting.

Confusing to Voters

Committee members claimed the change in voting for supervisors would be confusing to voters and would necessitate using paper ballots in four of the five city wards. This would be contrary to state law, which favors use of voting machines when possible. The city owns voting machines.

Woehler's proposal is for five supervisors from the city, the same as would be permitted if established ward boundaries were used to define supervision districts. No conclusion was reached.

Woehler indicated it would be up to the county board to determine whether changes in his proposal would be acceptable, as the board originally ordered him to prepare the plan.

Pfeffer Wins Chilton Tennis Tournament for Second Straight Year

CHILTON—Nick Pfeffer won the Chilton recreation department's junior boys singles tennis tournament this week for the second straight year by downing Terry Friederichs, 6-0, 6-0.

Pfeffer defeated Tom Schmicko in the semi-finals, 6-2, 6-1. Friederichs edged Paul Fritschke in the same round, 7-5, 3-6, 6-4.

The recreation department also is conducting junior boys' doubles, and men's singles and doubles tournaments.

Only Five Hits

The winning Angel-Met combination managed only five hits off the combined efforts of losing pitcher Marv Geiser, starting pitcher Steve Bruckner, and Jerry Pagel. They chalked up 11 strikeouts and walked three.

Collecting hits for the winners were Clyde Lorenz, Sturtz, Dave Ketter, Dave Halbach and Nick Pfeffer.

The All-Star game concluded the Babe Ruth League season. The title was won by the Angels (10-4).

Swimming Tests Will Conclude Fremont Program

FREMONT — Swimming instruction, which had a record enrollment this year, will conclude with final tests scheduled for next week, according to Mrs. Gerald Zeichert, Red Cross swimming instructor.

Tests will be held during the regular class hours. On the final day of swimming there will be a closing picnic for each class.

For the first time in recent years, Red Cross achievement cards will be presented to those passing their tests. Mrs. Zeichert and her assistant, Miss Janelle Zempel, will prepare the cards for beginners, advance beginners, intermediate swimmers, junior life saving and senior life saving.

A total of 163 persons, including five adults, were enrolled in the classes of the village-sponsored program.

Former Director of Post Publishing Co. Dies in California

William A. C. Roethke, 37, a Los Angeles attorney who served as a director of the Post Publishing Co., publisher of The Post-Crescent (now Post Corporation) for several years, died Thursday in California of multiple strokes.

The widow, Harriet Kline Roethke, is a daughter of the late John K. Kline, who was editor of The Post-Crescent from 1920 until his death in 1930.

Roethke suffered a stroke in his law office, and subsequently three more strokes in the hospital without regaining consciousness.

Funeral services will be held Monday in Beverly Hills, Calif.

Seymour, Waupaca Win Central League Titles

Seymour and Waupaca teams' crown by Kraft, who finished the season with an 11-0 log. Weyauwega had been tied for first place in the Western Division of the American League. It gained a berth in finals by defeating Waupaca after Waupaca had topped Manawa in the first round of the playoff.

Weyauwega had drawn a bye in the first round.

Gov. Knowles To Speak at Corn Roast

NEENAH — Gov. Warren P. Knowles will be the speaker for the Winnebago County Republican party corn roast Aug. 23 at Winnebago County park in Winneconne. L. William Coppes, county GOP chairman, said Friday.

The governor will interrupt a fishing vacation near Minocqua to attend the annual gathering of county republicans. He is expected to arrive at the county park about midway in the 4:30 p.m. corn roast, Coppes said.

Also attending the corn roast will be State Treasurer Mrs. Dena Smith; Winnebago County's four legislators, State Sen. William Draheim, and Assemblymen David O. Martin, William Steiger and Floyd Shurbert; all of the Winnebago County officials and state, county and sixth district Republican party officers.

Knowles Vetoes Vaccination Bill

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles has vetoed a bill that would have limited state payments for female cat-dying of brucellosis to those vaccinated by the end of 1965.

In a veto message Thursday, the governor said the state's present program has been successful, and the changes in the bill 'would have hard effects on some persons who have unvaccinated cattle.'

In effect, the proposal would have made the brucellosis vaccination for dairy cattle mandatory instead of voluntary.

Expectant Mother Makes 'Dry Run' on Outagamie Police

A Sheboygan woman, an expectant mother, told Outagamie County Sheriff radiomen Tuesday she was making a "practice run" on a possible emergency.

The woman said her husband, a workman with a Sheboygan engineering firm on a job in Outagamie County, wanted to be with her when the time for the baby's arrival came sometime next month.

Could the sheriff's department relay the message quickly enough to her husband's job site so he could return home in time? the woman asked.

Radiomen assured the caller that such a message, when it came, would be quickly dispatched.

No Progress Reported in Strike Talks

Negotiations at Appleton Machine Produce Few Results

Union and management officials met Thursday night for negotiations in a contract dispute at Appleton Machine Co., but apparently no conclusions were reached.

John MacDonald, representative of the company, could not be reached, and Arvel Kinney, Milwaukee, representative of the striking International Association of Machinists, was in Wausau and not available.

The meeting Thursday night reportedly lasted about six hours. A source said some differences were ironed out, but the two sides had not reached full accord.

One source said a settlement of the strike which started July 8 appeared near, but there was no confirmation.

Both wages and working conditions are said to be involved in the dispute.

Meanwhile, a strike continues at Allis-Chalmers Appleton Works, where a strike began July 11.

Representatives of both sides in that labor dispute say there are no new meetings scheduled.

Clintonville PTA Selects Planning Unit for 1965-66

CLINTONVILLE — Officers of the Longfellow Junior High School PTA met Wednesday night with Principal Rey Laske to select a planning committee for 1965-66.

The committee will meet at 8 p.m. Aug. 25 at the Junior High library.

Members are Mrs. Earl Genskow, Mrs. Dennis Zeusk, Gerle Dieck, Mrs. Ralph Ulschig, Mrs. Harold Laatsch, Mrs. Eugene Schellinger, Mrs. Ed Breitrick, Robert Edwards and Mrs. Arno Olson.

Mrs. Gordon Rindt was named hospitality chairman for the school year.

Lowell Walker is president of the PTA; Ed Wanta, vice president; Mrs. Warren Hanson, secretary, and Mrs. Gordon Poole, treasurer.

20 Million Recipients Of Social Security To Get Back Payments

Seven Per Cent Benefits Increase To be Shown in September Checks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interested in the voluntary supplementary plan covering physicals' fees and other benefits, million persons now receiving Social Security benefits.

That check, due to be mailed in late September, will be a retroactive payment reflecting the seven per cent increase provided under the Social Security health care bill signed Friday by President Johnson.

The bill is retroactive to January. To figure what your check may be, let's assume you received $100 monthly January through August for an $800 total. The separate September check will be seven per cent of $800, or $56.

The first regular checks reflecting the increase will be mailed in early October covering September.

Social Security Commissioner Robert M. Ball mentioned the upcoming check Sunday in outlining what some people should do to receive new benefits.

Some needn't do anything.

Supplementary Plan
If you are a Social Security or railroad retirement beneficiary 65 or older, you automatically will be certified for the new health insurance which goes into effect July 1, 1966.

And if you are a beneficiary

Grand Jury Indicts Man For Murder

Kidnapping Charge Also Filed for Babysitter's Death

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—The Ramsey County grand jury Friday night indicted Dennis Linehan on two counts of murder and one count of kidnapping in the death of babysitter Barbara Iversen.

The 24-year-old Cambridge man was accused in a first-degree murder count of having slain the 14-year-old girl during the crime of rape or sodomy with force and violence.

A third degree murder count alleged the death could have occurred during the committing of a felony, namely, kidnapping without intent to kill.

Another count accused Linehan of having taken the suburban St. Paul girl from the Glen Hanson home on the night of June 9 "with the purpose of committing the felony of criminal kidnapping."

Arraigning Monday
County Attorney William Randall said Linehan would be arraigned in district court at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Authorities said earlier that Linehan, a father of two, had signed a 15-page statement admitting he had strangled the blonde girl after seeing her while on a window-peeping tour.

He related he had forced Barbara into his car, then held her by the neck when she struggled and yelled. He said he had hid her body in underbrush in a game farm in Anoka County, then returned later to move it.

After intensive search and acting on a tip, officers found the girl's body in a shallow grave off a road near Cambridge on July 26. The scene was about 50 miles north of Minneapolis-St. Paul.

HUAC Possibly Has Witness to Testify on Klan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities apparently has found witnesses — possibly disaffected Klansmen — willing to tell inside secrets about Ku Klux Klan operations.

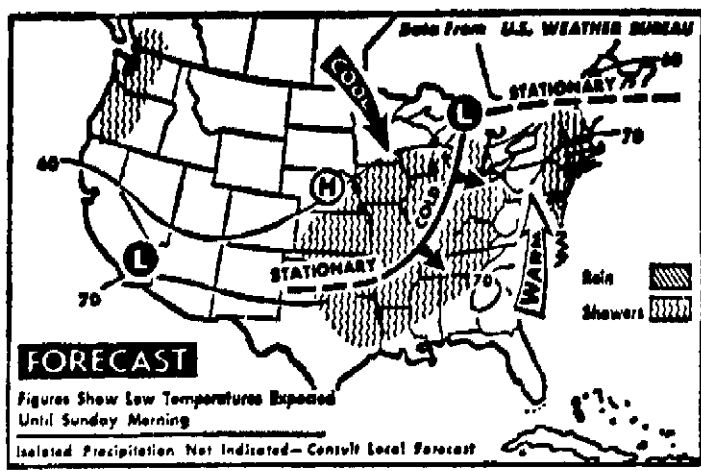

Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., wouldn't say so, but he did announce Thursday that public hearings, delayed by a lengthy search for "friendly witnesses," would definitely begin in October.

When Willis disclosed March 30 that his committee had voted to carry out a formal investigation of the Klan, as requested by President Johnson, he expected hope hearings could begin in "a couple of months."

But when his investigators fanned out through the South, they reportedly ran into more difficulties than they had expected.

Willis said to use the same technique with the Klan his committee employs in probing Communist activities — confronting recalcitrant witnesses with former insiders testimony.

But, sources said, investigators had trouble locating persons willing and able to reveal details of Klan operations at a public hearing.

Gasoline Fire Burns Worker

Marion Man Was Under Truck When Spark Ignited Fuel

MARION—Floyd Krueger, 24, suffered second- and third-degree burns on the right side of his body and his upper limbs when his clothing caught fire here Thursday afternoon.

Krueger was working under a truck at Milbauer's Marion Body Works, extending the fuel line for the body, which has been lengthened.

Gasoline had dripped down on his body and on the floor where he worked. A spark from an unknown source ignited the gasoline, and Krueger had to run through flames to reach safety.

He rolled around on the floor to extinguish the fire. He was taken to the Clintonville Community Hospital. Both arms and both hands reportedly were badly burned. Most seriously affected were right elbow and fingers of his left hand.

Five Men Charged For Running Gambling Parlors in Kenosha

KENOSHA (AP)—Three more men have been named in warrants charging them with operation of gambling parlors in Kenosha. The warrants bring the total to 11 who have been named in warrants in connection with alleged commercial gambling in the city.

The new warrants issued Friday named Sam Gerolamo of Kenosha, who is vacationing in northern Wisconsin; Bustiano Balistreri, formerly of Milwaukee and now living in Kansas City; and Harry Siegal, former Kenosha resident now working in Las Vegas, Nev.

Siegal operated a vending machine service when he lived in Kenosha. The warrant charged him with operating a gambling place in a tavern.

Gerolamo and Balistreri, along with five others taken into custody Thursday, were charged with operating a gambling place now used as a pool hall. The writ said Gerolamo was owner of the building.

All of the charges stemmed from a John Doe investigation here.

Larger School Areas Needed Says Rothwell

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin's most acute problem in education below the college level is need for larger and fewer school districts, according to the state superintendent of public instruction.

Angus Rothwell, speaking to a meeting of the Dane County Democratic party Wednesday, said the state must reduce the number of school districts from the present 600 to 200.

"Then we could do an effective and efficient job," said Rothwell. "Having small districts costs taxpayers more money and gives students poorer education."

There are 61 one-room schools, and 29 two-room schools in the state, each with its own school board, he told the group.

"Programs in small schools cannot be broad enough to take care of the demands of modern education," Rothwell said.

"We are hopeful one day the Legislature will do what some of our people will not do—to say we will not put up with this kind of organization any more. I think the Legislature will do this in time."

School Starts Aug. 30 For Freedom Students, Registration Ends 18th

FREEDOM—School will start August 30, according to Principal John R. Schwallier. Class schedules were mailed Aug. 4. New students who have not registered should do so before Aug. 18. Students may request schedule changes at the high school by August 18.

Students are requested to bring class schedules with them the first pressed hope hearings could begin in "a couple of months."

But when his investigators fanned out through the South, they reportedly ran into more difficulties than they had expected.

Willis said to use the same technique with the Klan his committee employs in probing Communist activities — confronting recalcitrant witnesses with former insiders testimony.

Oppose Plan For Remapping

Legislative Group in Kaukauna Against Outagamie Proposal

KAUKAUNA — The city's legislative committee opposed Wednesday the county redistricting plan submitted by Outagamie County Executive Secretary Alvin Woehler.

Committee members presented their views to the executive committee of the county board in a meeting of the Kaukauna supervisors, the legislative committee, members of the executive committee, Woehler, and regional planned Eugene Franchett.

Woehler, in an effort to follow the principal of one man, one vote as required by state law for reorganization of county boards, has drawn up a plan showing how supervisor districts should be set in Kaukauna.

His plan crosses ward boundaries and is only slightly different from the ward plan adopted earlier this year by the city council in redistricting.

Confusing to Voters

Committee members claimed the change in voting for supervisors would be confusing to voters and would necessitate using paper ballots in four of the five city wards. This would be contrary to state law, which favors use of voting machines when possible. The city owns voting machines.

Woehler's proposal is for five supervisors from the city, the same as would be permitted if established ward boundaries were used to define supervision districts. No conclusion was reached.

Woehler indicated it would be up to the county board to determine whether changes in his proposal would be acceptable, as the board originally ordered him to prepare the plan.

Pfeffer Wins Chilton Tennis Tournament for Second Straight Year

CHILTON — Nick Pfeffer won the Chilton recreation department's junior boys singles tennis tournament this week for the second straight year by downing Terry Friederichs, 6-0, 6-0.

Pfeffer defeated Tom Schmickofer in the semi-finals, 6-2, 6-1. Friederichs edged Paul Fritschka in the same round, 7-5, 3-6, 6-4.

The recreation department also is conducting junior boys' doubles, and men's singles and doubles tournaments.

Swimming Tests Will Conclude Fremont Program

FREMONT — Swimming instruction, which had a record enrollment this year, will conclude with final tests scheduled for next week, according to Mrs. Gerald Zeichert, Red Cross swimming instructor.

Tests will be held during the regular class hours. On the final day of swimming there will be a closing picnic for each class. For the first time in recent years, Red Cross achievement cards will be presented to those passing their tests. Mrs. Zeichert and her assistant, Miss Janelle Zempel, will prepare the cards for beginners, advance mers, junior life saving and senior life saving.

A total of 163 persons, including five adults, were enrolled in the classes of the village-sponsored program.

Former Director of Post Publishing Co. Dies in California

William A. C. Roethke, 57, a Los Angeles attorney who served as a director of the Post Publishing Co., publisher of The Post-Crescent (now Post Corporation) for several years, died Thursday in California of multiple strokes.

The widow, Harriet Kline Roethke, is a daughter of the late John K. Kline, who was editor of The Post-Crescent from 1920 until his death in 1930.

Roethke suffered a stroke in his law office, and subsequently three more strokes in the hospital without regaining consciousness. Funeral services will be held Monday in Beverly Hills, Calif.

been ready for a meeting of the city council Wednesday night.

However, Public Works Director Robert Bues said the project involved more work than he had initially expected and he was unable to complete it in time for the meeting.

Bues said the report should be complete and available to city officials by Monday afternoon.

Mitchell said that would give aldermen enough time to study the report, which is to be a synopsis of previous studies of water problems, before a special meeting he would call for Wednesday night.

Members of the Appleton Water Commission also would be present.

At that time, aldermen will consider placing some type of question on a referendum ballot for Sept. 14 when voters will face a referendum on whether certain city officials should be appointed or elected.

The exact nature of the water referendum has not been determined. This will be decided upon at the special meeting.

Among the questions which may be on the ballot are whether Appleton should go to Lake Michigan or Lake Winnebago for its future water supply.

Various studies have shown that the Fox River, the city's present water source, is neither desirable or adequate as a long-range supply.

Angel-Met All-Stars Win In Chilton

Babe Ruth Teams Combine Efforts For 4-3 Victory

CHILTON — A wild pitch in extra innings decided the Babe Ruth All-Star game Thursday night, as the Angel-Met stars edged the Twin-Colts stars 4-3 in eight innings.

Jerry Sturtz was the winning pitcher, working three innings and allowing no runs or hits while striking out five and giving up two walks. Starting pitcher for the winning team was Dave Halbach, who also gave up no runs or hits his three innings of work.

The only hit the Twin-Colts managed came in the seventh inning by Jerry Pagel, when curveballer Jim Schwarz ran into a streak of wildness, walking four batters plus allowing the hit.

Only Five Hits

The winning Angel-Met combination managed only five hits off the combined efforts of losing pitcher Marv Geiser, starting pitcher Steve Bruckner and Jerry Pagel. They chalked up 11 strikeouts and walked three.

Collecting hits for the winners were Clyde Lorenz, Sturtz, Dave Ketter, Dave Halbach and Nick Pfeffer.

The All-Star game concluded the Babe Ruth League season. The title was won by the Angels (10-4).

Expectant Mother Makes 'Dry Run' on Outagamie Police

A Sheboygan woman, an expectant mother, told Outagamie County Sheriff radiomen Tuesday she was making a "practice run" on a possible emergency.

The woman said her husband, a workman with a Sheboygan engineering firm on a job in Outagamie County, wanted to be with her when the time for the baby's arrival came sometime next month.

Could the sheriff's department relay the message quickly enough to her husband's job site so he could return home in time? the woman asked.

Radiomen assured the caller that such a message, when it came, would be quickly dispatched.

Seymour, Waupaca Win Central League Titles

Seymour and Waupaca teams won championships in the two age divisions of the Central Wisconsin Boys Baseball League this week.

Western Division National League champion Waupaca trounced Seymour 13-1 to capture the title in the older age group competition.

Eastern Division American League title winner Seymour nudged host Weyauwega 3-2 behind undefeated hurler Tony Kraft.

Waupaca scored six runs in the third on six hits and added another half dozen in the sixth frame and one in the seventh.

Seymour's only run came on a triple and a wild pitch.

John Holly twirled a two-hitter for the winners, walking one and striking out seven. Three Seymour hurlers gave up 14 hits and walked six.

Seymour's younger team in "American" play was led to its

Murder Trial Set In Slaying of Goodland Kin

LANCASTER (AP) — John Woolf, 37, was bound over to Circuit Court today for trial on a first degree murder charge in the death of Earl Roethke, 31, a grandson of the late Gov. Walter S. Goodland.

Woolf waived preliminary hearing in Grant County Court before Judge Milton Melhouse. He was ordered held without bond pending trial.

Roethke, who lived in British Hollow, was found shot to death in the home of Woolf, his neighbor, July 16. Authorities have declined to reveal the circumstances.

No Progress Reported in Strike Talks

Negotiations at Appleton Machine Produce Few Results

Union and management officials met Thursday night for negotiations in a contract dispute at Appleton Machine Co. but apparently no conclusions were reached.

John MacDonald, representative of the company, could not be reached, and Arvel Kinney, Milwaukee, representative of the striking International Association of Machinists, was in Wausau and not available.

The meeting Thursday night reportedly lasted about six hours. A source said some differences were ironed out, but the two sides had not reached full accord.

One source said a settlement of the strike which started July 8 appeared near, but there was no confirmation.

Both wages and working conditions are said to be involved in the dispute.

Meanwhile, a strike continues at Allis-Chalmers Appleton Works, where a strike began July 11.

Representatives of both sides in that labor dispute say there are no new meetings scheduled.

Lack of Tuberculosis Testing For County Inmates Queried

Outagamie County jail prisoners have not been taking part in a three-year-old program of tuberculosis control, and county authorities Thursday wondered why.

Sheriff Calvin Spice commented that the program which calls for weekly chest x-rays of all new prisoners "has slacked in recent months because of a charge of inattentive off-duty driving and forfeited bond of $15."

Valley Men Named to State Councils

Units Will Advise on Building Facilities for Mentally Retarded

MADISON (AP) — Two Fox Valley men were appointed to advisory councils to implement construction of facilities for the mentally retarded and community mental health centers, according to Dr. E. H. Jorris, state health officer.

Dr. Alan Townsend, 2000 W. Prospect Ave., Appleton, was appointed to the advisory council for mental health centers, and Thomas Lambeck, Oshkosh, was appointed to the council for facilities for mentally retarded.

A bill signed Tuesday by Gov. Warren P. Knowles allows the state to participate in a federal program that will allocate $1.8 million for health center construction and $430,918 for mental retardation facilities buildings during the 1965 fiscal year. Local matching funds are required.

Waupaca Area School Opening Set Sept. 1

Registration, Class Schedule Announced By Superintendent

WAUPACA — Classes at Waupaca Unified District schools will open Sept. 1, according to George Hendrickson, superintendent of schools. A two-day teacher workshop will get under way Aug. 30.

Grades 7 to 12 will start classes at 8:15 a.m. on the first day of school; grades five and six will start at 8:45 and kindergarten through fourth grade classes will begin at 9 a.m.

All new students who have not previously enrolled are asked to call or appear at school as soon as possible. High school students should call the high school office or appear in person and any grade school pupils who will be attending kindergarten through eighth grade classes can be enrolled by calling the grade school office at Central School, Hendrickson said.

Pupils who attended Waupaca schools last year but have moved within the district are also asked to contact either the high school or grade school office so that the student may be properly enrolled and bus service arranged for students living in rural areas.

Area grade schools will operate as they did last year, Hendrickson said. Golden Hill, Lind Center, Sheridan, and Gards Corners will operate with grades one through six and Barton will operate with only the fourth grade. Fourth graders from Gards Corners, Barton and Badger districts will attend Barton School.

Sixth grade pupils residing in the Riverside District will attend sixth grade at Riverside School this year. It has become necessary to start a sixth grade class at Riverside this year, Hendrickson said, because of the large enrollment at Central School.

Cedar Lake pupils will attend Lind Center School as they did last year and grade school students transported to the city to attend classes will be at the same schools as last year, he said.

3 Elementary Schools

The three elementary schools in the city will conduct kindergarten classes. Pupils living in the Central District will attend morning kindergarten classes at Central School and those living in the Westwood and Riverside Districts will attend afternoon classes in their respective schools.

Kindergarten students from rural areas will attend either the Central afternoon sessions or the Westwood morning sessions.

Parents of rural kindergarten pupils will be notified of bus schedules and the school their child will attend before the opening of the school year.

Lutheran Youth Plan Role in Bear Creek Church Anniversary

BEAR CREEK — The Walther League of the Grace and Trinity Lutheran churches made plans for a refreshment stand at the 90th anniversary celebration of the Trinity Lutheran Fellowship Hall Monday evening.

"Family Arguments" was the topic presented by the Rev. Carl Ehrlich. The group then discussed its annual picnic to be held Sunday at Waupaca's South Park. A pollock dinner will be served plus a 4 p.m. luncheon. The league will also have a hayride in September.

Next meeting of the league will be Sept. 8. The group plans to address invitations for the anniversary celebration at the next social meeting at the Trinity Fellowship Hall.

Splash Party Set for Clintonville Students

CLINTONVILLE — A splash out idea of humans posing in museum school freshman age and older will be held from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Sunday at the Clintonville Municipal pool.

Regular admission prices will be veteran of such "reproductions" apply and season tickets will not be honored for this special splash event.

Drum and Bugle Concert Also Will be Feature of Family Weekend Festivities

MARION — Plans are complete and Marion is all set for the annual Homecoming and Corn Roast which will be held Aug. 13-15, according to Ned Nehring, general chairman.

The parade committee, consisting of Francis Byers, Don Raisler and Larry Schuster, has announced that at least 60 entries have been received for the big parade on Sunday afternoon, including nine drum and bugle corps from Milwaukee, Appleton, Eau Claire, La Crosse, Oshkosh, Sheboygan, Little Chute and Fond du Lac.

Three high school bands and a large number of Legion posts and Veterans of Foreign War post color guards will also participate.

Corn Roast During Parade

The Eau Claire drum and bugle corps, which will arrive in Marion next Saturday, will present a 1 1/2 hour concert during the corn roast.

The Doll Parade, set for Aug. 15, is expected to exceed last year's 80 entries, according to Mrs. Bruce Hoffman, chairman.

Mrs. Lyle Henschel and Mrs. David Wilke are also on the committee.

There will be five separate divisions in the parade—dolls and buggies, storybook lane, bikes and wagons, TV characters, and pets and miscellaneous.

Doll Trophies

Three prizes of $3, $2 and $1 will be awarded in each category and a trophy and grand prize of $5 will be awarded to the outstanding entry.

The Doll Parade will be led by the new Miss Wisconsin, Miss Sharon Singstock, and the Marion School Junior Band. It will begin at 3 p.m. while the homecoming parade will get underway at 2:30 p.m. Aug. 15.

The "Minutemen," under the direction of Joe Daley, will make three appearances during the festivities. They headed the booster trip Saturday.

Six finalists in the second annual Miss Marion Contest were announced by James Jaeger, chairman of the Lions Club, Miss Marion Contest. They are Connie Bohr, Colleen Fuchs, Susan Milbauer, Julie Welch, of Marion; Sharon Mae Tischauer, Marion route 2; and Daria Joy Zillmer, Clintonville, route 1.

Crowning During Roast

The winner will be crowned during the corn roast and will be presented in official crowning ceremonies and in the Homecoming and Corn Roast Parade.

All six finalists will be dinner guests of the Lions Club Monday evening at Zig's Supper Club.

Assignments for cooking corn during the Homecoming Corn Roast Aug. 14 have been made by Murray Meyer, chairman, and his committee—Jim Knitt, Floyd Brandenhug and Lyle Henschel.

Chairmen on the 4 to 6:30 p.m. shift include Vilas Lehman, David Wilke and Malcolm Anderson; 6:30 to 9 p.m. shift, Bob Eggleston, John Bartelt and James Rowan; on the 9 to 11:30 p.m. shift, John Knitt, James Beyer and Leon Rades.

Chairmen of the corn kettles are Louis Pockat, Jerry McFarren and Bill Welch.

Waupaca Inheritance Taxes Total $49,859

WAUPACA—Waupaca County has collected $49,859 in inheritance taxes from estates settled during the first seven months of the year, according to John DeVaud, county treasurer.

Of this amount, DeVaud said, only $2,880 is retained by the county and the balance of $46,978 goes to the state.

Berman's 'Pictures' at an Inhibition

GREEN BAY—Mark Berman has a lot to say in his "Pictures at an Inhibition" which was premiered Friday night by the Harlequin Players at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay Center, but he says it too often.

However, the Players under the direction of Jack Frisch in their first outing here, give Berman's outpouring a competent performance.

The production at the center Friday night and tonight is a landmark for the area. It is the debut of the Green Bay-based Harlequin troupe, which in itself is a thing of moment and, of course, the world premiere of a new play is an occasion too seldom enjoyed.

Touch of Excellence

Frisch is the head of the drama department at the Green Bay center and held a similar post at the UW-Fox Valley Center. The Berman production indicates that he hasn't lost his touch of excellence.

Two things that mark the Berman original seem to stand as hallmarks for modern writing. It uses a scattershot approach to satire and it is the Wisconsinites' inter-scholastic abysmally vague.

His story concerns the way of reproducing art works in museums while the originals are busy elsewhere.

Story Line

The main character is a veteran of such "reproductions" who, with his new assistant, Coach Ellis said the important meeting was on "Rules and Interpretation."

Clintonville High Football Coach Attends Clinic in Madison

CLINTONVILLE—T. D. Ellis, football coach of the Clintonville High School Trackers, this week attended a coaching clinic in Madison, sponsored jointly by the Wisconsin Inter-scholastic Athletic Association and Wisconsin High School Coaches Association.

The clinic was held Monday through Wednesday.

A luncheon was served by the W. Club. The W. Club served a breakfast to the group each morning.

Coach Ellis said the important meeting was on "Rules and Interpretation."

Unpacking His Suitcase

After the long trip from Japan is Waupaca's first foreign exchange student, Koji Nakayama, left. The 17-year-old lad will make his home with the Richard Johnson family.

Helping him unpack is Rick Johnson, who will be one of Koji's classmates for the coming school term. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Man Treated for Wound

The man was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment of wounds while Calumet and Outagamie counties and the City of Appleton officials mulled over payment of the bill.

Supv. John Schreiter, chairman of the county law enforcement committee, said the payment has been approved but the bill will be held up until the committee receives a copy of the final ruling on the discussions by the municipalities regarding payment of the bill.

Waukelet was wounded in Calumet County by Appleton police and held in the Outagamie County jail under the custody of the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department.

The committee is also exploring reimbursement of a $420 hospital bill for an Outagamie County jail prisoner being held on a six month traffic offense.

Schreiter said he would like to learn if it is possible to recover some of the hospital expenses in the care of Lawrence Freward, 21, of Oconto, who was hospitalized soon after his arrest for driving after revocation in June and sentenced to a six month jail term.

The prisoner has a history of stomach trouble, authorities said, and is being treated at the jail by a doctor.

Importation Blamed For Pine Infection

Transplanting Trees to Foreign Soil Lessens Resistance to Insects, Forester Explains in Waupaca

WAUPACA — Critical outbreaks of insect infection now affecting the state's pine trees was blamed on importing of foreign trees at the 12th annual meeting of the Wisconsin Christmas Tree Producers' Association.

Fred Trenk, executive secretary of the association and a retired forester from the University of Wisconsin, told delegates when Scotch pine are brought in and planted in soil not similar to their native land, local insects which the trees are not able to ward off are attracted. The insects bring infection, which then spreads to other trees, he said.

"Weevils and moths are creating the most damage," Trenk continued. "Plantations in Waushara, Portage, Green Lake, Marquette, Adams and Jackson counties are the most seriously affected by the insects because of the light soil in which the trees are grown, he said, but pointed out that trees grown in heavy soil have little or no insect trouble."

Tree Producing Counties

According to Trenk, there now are more than 10 million trees being raised for future Christmas trees. Of these between 2.5 and 3 million will go on the market during this coming Christmas season. Waushara County leads the state in Christmas tree production, followed by Jackson County. Other large producing counties are Waupaca, Adams and Portage.

During the day trees were displayed and judged. The grand champion tree and other class winners were announced at a banquet Friday night in Waupaca Country Club.

The more than 175 growers attending the convention toured local tree plantations today after reviewing the winning trees.

Sheared Pine

Local plantations toured, were the Shambau-General Tree Corporation plantation with sheared white and Norway pines. Many of the trees will be ready for market this fall. A demonstration of equipment and selection of coloring and flocking was presented at the Kirk Tree Plantation. The final stop of the tour was at the Phil Chase Tree Plantation near Kusel Lake. Chase has been a pioneer in the planting of balsam fir and spruce on light soils in Central Wisconsin.

All the plantations visited were south of Waupaca.

Appleton Boy Recovering From Dog Bite

Too Early to Tell if Surgery to Restore Nose Was Success

A 2-year-old Appleton boy is in satisfactory condition at Appleton Memorial Hospital today following operations Wednesday after his nose was bitten off by a dog.

Authorities said today it was too early to tell if Keith Hanagan's nose will be completely restored. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hanagan, 727 W. Harris St.

The boy was bitten by a dog owned by a relative in his home Wednesday afternoon when the boy approached a suitcase owned by the dog's master.

The dog and its owner, John Rasmussen, San Diego, Calif., had traveled from California for a visit. The dog was put to death with the owner's consent.

Surgeons Wednesday grafted the nose in place and are waiting to see if the nose will be restored to normalcy. The youth's mother said some plastic surgery may be necessary in the future.

Tigerton Schools To Open Aug. 30

TIGERTON — The public schools will open Aug. 30. There will be classes on August 30, 31, Sept. 1 and 2 but no school on Sept. 3, according to Supt. E. W. Ruh.

Hot lunch will be served the first day of school session. Students not on the regular bus route or new in the district who desire transportation are requested to contact Elmer Anderson or the high school superintendent's office. In-Service training for all of the teachers in the district will start Aug. 23.

From $58 to $400 at Waupaca

Failure to Pay Fine Ups Court Ante

WAUPACA — A Custer man discovered Friday that not paying fines on time can be costly—especially if one has a bogus driver's license.

What could have been a $58 fine for Robert E. Ostrowski, 21, route 1, Custer — if he would have paid in time and avoided a police investigation — snowballed into fines totaling $400, plus a 45-day mandatory jail sentence, when he was arraigned in Municipal Justice Court.

Ostrowski pleaded guilty to driving after his driver's license was revoked, which brought a $200 fine; speeding, 85 miles an hour in a "55" zone, which carried a $100 fine, and displaying a fictitious driver's license, for which he was fined $100 and sentenced to 45 days in jail.

Stopped Near Fremont

Ostrowski was stopped for speeding April 2, near Fremont, by County Traffic Patrolman John Bonnell. At that time the Custer man produced a driver's license issued to Amil Ostrowski, who was working for a construction firm at Sheboygan.

He was returned to Waupaca County Thursday by County Patrol Cap. John Penney and Undersheriff William Mork.

Ostrowski told the court that after his driver's license was revoked he went to the Milwaukee driver's license bureau and applied for a new license under the name of Amil, which he received after passing a written and driving test.

Seven Speeding Charges

Under the name of Robert Ostrowski had been convicted of seven speeding charges and was involved in two accidents since 1962. Under the name of Amil, Ostrowski had been convicted of three speeding charges.

Capt. Penney said if Ostrowski would have appeared to pay his speeding fine or sent in a bond to the court, the case would have been closed and no investigation would have resulted.

Along with the $200 fine for driving after revocation, Justice Whalen ordered an additional $200 fine for displaying a fictitious license, who was working for a six-month jail sentence if the

Bernard E. Miller, Once Clintonville Mail Carrier, Dies

CLINTONVILLE — Bernard E. (Ben) Miller, 84, a retired mail carrier and railway line-man electrician, died Friday after a five-month illness.

Miller, 234 S. Main St., served as a Star Route mail carrier for 13 years, transporting mail from the post office to the airport.

He took over the postal position after being employed by the Chicago and North Western Railway Co. from 1905-1947. Prior to his transfer here he served with the Western Union Telegraph Co. in Minneapolis as a lineman electrician from 1898-1905.

He is survived by his widow, one brother and two sisters. The funeral will be at 11 a.m. Monday at St. Rose Catholic Church with the Rev. Thaddeus Kosciuszko officiating. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

Negroes' Registration Barriers Ended Today

Mississippi's Poll Tax Faces Court Challenge From Justice Department

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department presses the button today to start enforcement of the new law against obstacles to Negro voting.

The department is going into court at Jackson, Miss., to challenge that state's poll tax. Federal voting registration machinery will be set up next week in still undesignated areas in the South, and additional poll tax suits will be filed.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas B. Katzenbach had no prediction of how many new Negro voters the law would bring to the polls.

"As the President said, this act and its enforcement open the gates," he told a reporter. "Walking through them is up to individual Negroes throughout the South."

Negro Registrations

"But we would hope, in any event, that it is now possible for a good many thousand Negro citizens to be registered by the end of the year."

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., civil-rights leader, has said workers expect to help some 900,000 Southern Negroes register by the end of the month. He hailed the new law Friday as one that "will go a long way toward removing all the obstacles to the right to vote."

President Johnson had some advice for Negroes when he went to the Capitol Friday to sign the bill amid historic ceremony.

"You must register," Johnson said. "You must vote. And you must learn so your choice advances your interest and the interest of the nation."

By publication in the Federal Register today, the Justice Department brings about specific application of the ban on voter qualification tests in areas where less than half the adult population balloted in last November's election. The tests are banned in Alabama, Louisiana, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia, Alaska, part of North Carolina and scattered counties elsewhere.

The Justice Department plans to move quickly, but not massively, in enforcement.

The President said federal examiners will be sent to from 10 to 15 counties Tuesday to start registering eligible men and women. The counties will be named Monday.

Also on Tuesday, Katzenbach will file suits challenging poll taxes in Texas, Alabama and Virginia.

Atty. Gen. Joe Patterson of Mississippi said in Jackson the state will defend its position that the U.S. Constitution does not prohibit poll taxes in state and local elections.

11 Highway Deaths Friday On State Roads

Sends Year-Long Traffic Spiraling Up to Nearly 550

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Eleven persons were killed Friday in an epidemic of death on Wisconsin streets and highways.

Seven of the victims were in their early 20s or younger. The rash of fatalities skyrocketed the year-long traffic toll to 548, compared with 625 one year ago.

Three persons died in a single one-car accident. Another one-car crash took two other lives.

David Jankord, 19, Bloomington, Minn., was injured fatally Friday when the car in which he was riding collided with the rear of another auto stopped for a minor accident on Interstate 94 near Lake Mills.

Three persons died in a single one-car accident. Another one-car crash took two other lives.

Six of the victims were in the early 20s or younger.

Three members of a Milwaukee family were injured fatally Friday when their car overturned on a Marinette County road. Mrs. Mary D. Weed, 32, and her stepson, Wesley, 9, were killed outright. Another stepson, Daniel, 10, died later in a Green Bay hospital.

Two other children were among the victims.

A five-year-old girl, Pammy Kosterecz, was struck and killed by a car at an intersection near her home in Racine. Police said the auto had faulty brakes and charged the driver with reckless homicide.

Boat Missing, Two Rescued On Michigan

TWO RIVERS (AP) — Coast Guard ships and planes fanned out again over the broad expanse of Lake Michigan today searching for a missing yacht after a stormy night in which two other vessels had to be towed to port.

A Chicago insurance executive and his wife spent seven hours adrift in their cabin cruiser, lost and out of gas, before the Coast Guard plowed through five-foot waves to reach it shortly before midnight.

"I kept telling my wife it was getting calm, but it was mainly to calm myself," said Sanford H. Lederer, 43.

Still missing after an overnight search was another cabin cruiser, the Kenmar, from which Mayday calls were heard shortly before sunset Friday as a summer squall churned the lake.

There were few clues to the Kenmar's ownership, origin, occupants or fate.

The Coast Guard at Two Rivers, coordinating the search, said the harbor master at Port Washington reported a 28-foot cruiser, labeled the Kenmar, left there Friday morning bound north for either Sheboygan or Sturgeon Bay.

As rains swept the lake, the tanker, Polaris, picked up the Mayday call from a vessel identifying itself as the Kenmar.

Two Veteran Actors died Friday. Everett Sloane, 55, who has concentrated on television acting since World War II, died in his Brentwood, Calif., home, reportedly from an overdose of sleeping pills. Nancy Carroll, 60, a film star of the 1920's and 30's, was found in her New York apartment after she failed to appear for a summer stock production of "Never Too Late," in which she was appearing with Bert Lahr. Cause of death was not determined. (AP Wirephotos)

U.S. Receives Secret Message

No Revelation of Contents of Note Delivered by Ghana

WASHINGTON (AP) — There was no direct message from the North Vietnamese to President Johnson in a letter delivered by Foreign Minister Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana, diplomatic sources said today.

The letter, from Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah contained nothing to brighten the prospects for peace negotiations, it was understood. Quaison-Sackey would not talk to newsmen about its contents.

The message, delivered at the White House Friday, had aroused considerable advance speculation because, only a day earlier, Nkrumah had received a communication from President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam, with whom he is friendly.

Meets Johnson
Quaison-Sackey, who is also president of the U.N. General Assembly, met with Johnson and the White House later indicated, received assurances the United States has no present plans to bomb Hanoi, capital of North Viet Nam. U.S. officials have repeatedly said as much.

Boy Fireflies Learn Truth About Girls—But Too Late

WASHINGTON (AP) — An article in Science Magazine, researcher Lloyd said it's been known for a long time that fire fly females of the Genus Photinus are carnivorous.

They are fireflies, sneaky sirens that lure glibble males to trysting spots by blinking their lamps at them — then the girls devour the boys.

It's a downright violation of the love lantern system fireflies use in their legitimate courting, said entomologist James E. Lloyd.

And these deadly females, he said, apparently have achieved the dastardly deed by cracking the signal code of some other types of fireflies — and then mimicking it to make males of the other breed believe they're being called by the nice girls they usually date.

Throwing light on all this in an article in Science Magazine, researcher Lloyd said it's been known for a long time that fire fly females of the Genus Photinus are carnivorous.

And, while they'll make a lunch of most any other brand of firefly, one of their favorite dishes is the male of the Genus Photinus.

Scientists have suspected the Photinus girls snare the Photinus boys by imitating the characteristic lamp signals of the latter clan — but no one previously had caught them in the act.

That's where Lloyd came in. Armed with a flashlight to simulate the winking signals of fireflies, he invaded some prime firefly haunts in Florida, Illinois and Virginia.

He flashed the mating calls of various species of Photinus males and out of the night sky would come answering signals from Photinus females who apparently could mimic a whole repertoire of signals.

Lloyd said he watched a Photinus female flash an invitation and, a little later, lurching on a sadly deceived Photinus.

Critics Protesting Viet Nam Policies

Hundreds of Demonstrators in Washington, California, Indiana

WASHINGTON (AP) — Critics and a few professors patting by the hundreds demonstrated in Washington, California and Indiana against President Johnson's Viet Nam policies.

In Washington Friday about 600 persons attended a four-hour rally in a park across from the White House to mark the beginning of what was called a four-day assembly of unrepresented people. A smaller number staged a sit-in at a White House gate. Scores of police were on guard against outbreaks.

In Emeryville, Calif., about 300 pickets tried unsuccessfully to block a 22-car train hauling troops to the Oakland, Calif., Army terminal.

In Bloomington, Ind., more than 100 Indiana University students and a few professors patting by the hundreds demonstrated in Washington, California and Indiana against President Johnson's Viet Nam policies.

The assembly in Washington plans to climax its protest meeting Monday with a march from the Washington monument to the Capitol.

A 100-member delegation of the assembly sought unsuccessfully to present a "declaration of conscience" to President Johnson. When he refused to receive it personally, about 60 pickets staged a sit-in at an entrance to the White House grounds.

The sit-in party sought to continue its vigil through the night, but by midnight it had dwindled to a band of about a dozen sharing one water jug and a few packs of cigarettes.

There were two arrests. President and Mrs. Johnson were away for much of the sit-in. They left about 9 p.m. for Camp David, presidential retreat near Thurmont, Md.

At Least Nine Dead in Crash

LAKEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — A light plane crashed into a field near a housing development today, spewing bodies and parts of the plane against houses and fences.

"We have nine bodies counted so far," said a Lakewood sheriff's deputy.

"One body is hanging from a living room window," said the deputy.

The plane's engine plowed through a garage. Other parts of the plane ripped through cinder block and chain link fences surrounding backyards.

"It's an area of mostly middle class homes," said a sheriff's deputy.

Strangling of Two Sorority Sisters

Muscular, 22-Year-Old Texas U. Student Charged in Coeds' Deaths

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A muscular 22-year-old University of Texas student was charged with murder Friday night in the slaying of two young women whose nearly nude bodies were found July 30 in a weed field.

James C. Cross Jr., handsome son of a Fort Worth chain store advertising executive, was charged in the death of Susan Rigby and Shirley Ann Stark, both 21, beautiful, brunette and from Dallas.

The complaint against Cross alleges he strangled both of the Chi Omega sorority sisters.

State Police Director Homer Garrison told a news conference that Cross voluntarily signed a statement. Cross then was taken to the Travis County Jail where he was held without bond.

Goes to Grand Jury
Dist. Atty. Tom Blackwell said the case would go to the grand jury "as soon as possible." He said he "absolutely" would seek the death penalty.

Filing of the charges against Cross climaxed a day-and-night investigation that started out as a missing persons search.

The young women last were seen alive July 18. Their decomposed bodies were found in a vacant lot on the north edge of Austin 12 days later. They had come to Austin to enroll Miss Rigby in summer classes at the University. Miss Stark left the university in June.

Garrison declined to say whether the statement mentioned any sexual assault on the women.

In a statement to Austin police early in the investigation, Cross said he had dated Miss Stark several times and had talked to her over the telephone July 18.

Garrison quoted Cross' statement as saying the women were slain in Austin in mid-July of 1964. The police director Officers described the 3-foot-9, 145-pound youth as muscular.

where the statement said — if it did — the women were killed. He said the statement implicated no one other than Cross.

"Case is Clear"
Officers said Cross came to headquarters alone to make the statement.

Garrison said, "we are pretty proud of the investigation. As far as we're concerned, the case is clear."

The black-haired Cross was a sophomore in arts and sciences. He served three years in the Army, including service in Japan.

A check in Fort Worth showed he had no police record.

Richard H. Udlock, a Fort Worth neighbor of Cross, described the youth as friendly and said he considered him "nothing but No. 1." He said Cross planned to become an English teacher.

Officers described the 3-foot-9, 145-pound youth as muscular.

North Carolina Schools, Churches Fight Ban on Communist Speakers

BY ROB WOOD
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A law banning Communist speakers has entangled North Carolina in a web of controversy, spreading from the legislative chambers to the university campuses to the church pulpits.

The law, passed in the fading hours of the 1963 legislative session without debate or a public hearing, prohibits Communists, or anyone who pleaded the Fifth Amendment during a loyalty hearing to speak on the campuses of state-supported schools.

University officials have argued the law violates academic freedom and puts politicians in charge of educational matters.

Repeal Urged
Ministers have urged repeal. The Southern Association of Schools and Colleges has warned the law could mean loss of accreditation for those state-supported institutions of higher learning.

The legislature refused to consider repeal or amendment this session.

The matter now rests with a nine-member commission, to be appointed by the governor, the Senate president, the House speaker.

The commission is to study the issue, particularly the accreditation of the colleges and universities. A report is expected by November.

Special Session
Gov. Dan K. Moore has promised to call a special legislative session should the commission suggest changes or repeal of the law.

North Carolina became the only state with such a law when the measure cleared both the Senate and House in less than 30 minutes.

When the legislature returned in 1965 for its session, the demand for repeal or amendment became a roar.

This time opponents pointed to the loss of accreditation as the deepest fault of the law.

The 120 members of the North Carolina House stood 210-1 against repeal. The 50-member Senate was almost evenly divided.

Moore told newsmen, "I have received hundreds and hundreds of letters from North Carolina citizens. They favor the law by a 6-1 margin."

The governor suggested the study commission "as the only possible solution to this controversy."

While the commission investigates, the debate continues.

William C. Friday, president of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, outlined what loss of accreditation might mean.

"There is a question as to whether students transferring from the university to an accredited school would be accepted. There is a possible loss of funding by federal and foundation grants. There is the very severe problem of faculty recruitment."

'Aids Leftists'
Duke University President Douglas Knight, whose private institution is not involved in the speaker-ban law, recently said: "This law has little to do with subversion and nothing to do with communism. Any professional Communist who could not wiggle through this net would be

Manitowoc Safest City In Wisconsin

MADISON (AP) — Manitowoc could boast today that it is the safest city in Wisconsin's 19 communities which have populations of 10,000 or more.

The State Motor Vehicle Department reported Thursday that Manitowoc had not had one traffic fatality the first six months this year while 431 persons were killed on roads in other areas.

The department added that only nine of the state's 72 counties had not had a fatal accident during the first six months of 1968. They were Adams, Buffalo, Burnett, Door, Florence, Iowa, Iron, Juneau and Vernon counties.

In the first six months of this year, Milwaukee's fatalities dropped to 26, compared with 45 in the corresponding period a year ago. Madison's fatality rate doubled this year from five to ten.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODY ISHMAEL

Roy and Dale Evans Rogers, the actors, are potent witnesses to faith.

Their strong belief in service to God and mankind appears in every phase of their active lives. Even in their programs they include religion. When Roy first proposed it his managers objected, but he won out. Their hymns have been an inspiration to all who have heard them.

The joys and sorrows of raising an international family, their own and adopted, have added vigor to their faith. Their love for children has resulted in well over 2,000 hospital visits and thousands of long distance calls.

The royalties from the six books Dale has written are turned over to charities, mostly for children. In 1964 Dale received the "Women of the World" award from International Orphans Inc. and "Church Woman of the Year" from Religious Heritage of America. Roy has been named Honorary Knight for life and Dale, Lady of Camelot, by Roundtable International for their "distinguished service to humanity."

"The King of the Cowboys" and his "Queen of the West" have done much to proclaim the kingdom of God.

Polish Catholic-Red Feud Shown by Wall

Priests Place Statue of Madonna on Blind Corner City Officials Want to Round Off

By GENE KRAMER
LONGA, Poland (AP) — A moss-covered wall has become a symbol of the struggle between Poland's Communist regime and the Roman Catholic Church.

Officials of this town 100 miles northeast of Warsaw want the wall, enclosing church property, torn down for a street-widening and traffic improvement project.

In mid-June, priests placed a Madonna and child on a pedestal just inside the wall, right at the blind street corner the city wants to round off. Thus the corner became a holy place.

Jerzy Nowelski, vice president of the government's District Council, told newsmen: "We regret that the church put that figure there. We don't want a fight. This should be settled in humanitarian fashion. But the bishop's secretary, a backward priest, is playing on the feelings of the people. They have made it now so people will say 'Look how the Communists are oppressing the church!'"

Mayor Ignacy Kosinski said the wall will be pulled down if no agreement is reached by Nov. 1.

The officials said they have good relations with the bishop of the Longa diocese, but that decisions are made by his secretary, the Rev. Jozef Biernacki. They said Father Biernacki refuses to accept the legal price of 65,000 zlotys—$2,700—for the property.

Father Biernacki will say nothing, but priests at the Longa Curia treat the wall question as a test of strength and describe it as a small example of the state pressure they feel is on all sides.

A delegation of peasants recently asked for support in their refusal to pay a state fine of $50 for erecting, without permission, a cross in a field at the site of a supposed miracle.

Defend People
"We do not recognize this miracle, but we have to defend our people," a priest said.

Priests said if the Church accepts compensation for its property at the Longa wall, permission may be withheld for a new wall after the street is widened. They would agree, they said, if the city would just move the Madonna and rebuild the wall. City officials said this would not be legal.

Priests denied the charge of town officials that they are blacklisting townspeople who agree to removal of the wall.

Underlying the wall quarrel is a long struggle over religious teaching of Polish children, a source of bitterness on both sides.

Defending state regulation of the catechism classes, Nowelski said "My 8-year-old son does not attend, and the instructor made an organized campaign among the other boys to ostracize him."

ADD INTEREST WITH PATTERN

There is no set rule which governs the amount of pattern that can be effectively used in a room. It is largely a matter of individual taste.

The size and style of the room will be guiding factors, of course. We are all aware that too many patterns produce a cluttered, busy effect.

The function of the room should be taken into consideration before a pattern is decided upon. If a lively, gay effect is desired, as in a dining room perhaps, then bright-colored, definite patterns work out satisfactorily. In a bedroom where a quiet serene air is preferred, then muted colors and a more indefinite pattern is indicated.

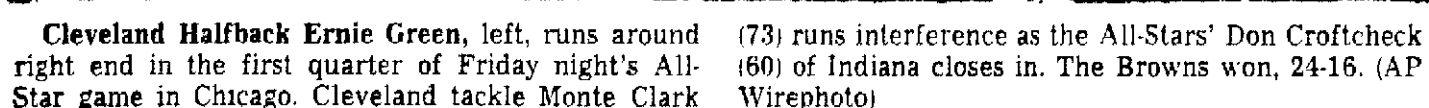

In the contemporary bedroom sketched above, pattern has been used to add interest without being obtrusive. Background of the pattern is the same butternut brown as the wood tones of the furniture. Overlay design is in soft blue. The blue has been repeated on the chair.

The walls are a soft off-white which relates to the adjoining hall and sitting room.

Lovely area rugs in front of the dresser, and beside the bed add comfort and decorative appeal. Natural wood floor contributes a feeling of warmth.

We strive to bring you diversified furnishings that are closely related in style, yet sufficiently dissimilar to avoid monotony. You are always assured of high quality when you purchase from us, and our prices mean real savings to you. Come in soon.

The Highway Bonding Bill

One of the major items of unfinished business for the state legislature when it returns to Madison in October is the modest highway construction acceleration plan offered late in the first session by the highway department with the endorsement of Gov. Knowles. The proposal contemplates a system of bonding, with the pledging of future receipts of state construction funds and federal government interstate highway allotments for the repayment of principal and interest obligations.

Support for the plan at a hearing before legislative recess was impressive in its volume and for the geographic distribution of the witnesses who came to Madison to urge the legislature to enact it. Especially noteworthy was the enthusiastic representation of spokesmen of upper Wisconsin communities who spoke with direct knowledge of the essential relation between efficient highway transportation and the prosperity of local industries and the basic recreational trades of the region.

But an objective appraisal of the measure must take into account the fact that there were some honest reservations about the draft of the measure expressed at the hearing also. The idea of fashioning yet another "dummy" corporation to achieve such bonding has been met with some reserve. Assemblyman Froehlich of Appleton, for example, made a good case against such improvisations, although he made clear that he supports the objective of speedier completion of more modern highways.

Perhaps easier to meet is the objection that the measure as drafted does not specifically limit the authority of the highway department to borrow. It was explained that underwriters are not likely to endorse or accept bond issues that are not secured by future revenues assured and in sight. That is plausible enough. But

The Bomb—Curse or Cure?

All during the twenty years since the first atomic bomb used militarily was dropped on Hiroshima, there has been controversy not only over using the bomb at that stage of the war but over the morality of developing it.

Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, one of the major developers of the bomb, was among those questioned by the New York Times about his part, whether he would do it if he had the time to live over and whether it should have been used against Japan. In general, his replies were in the affirmative but with his reasons, like those of a co-worker, Dr. Luis Alvarez, are not something all of us are accustomed to considering.

The existence of nuclear energy used for destruction has terrified a lot of people in the world. If a nuclear war with unlimited use of the existing weapons ever began perhaps 600 million persons would be dead within half an hour. But Oppenheimer says "I have a deep, continuing, haunting sense of the damage done to European culture by the two World Wars. The existence of the bomb has reduced the chances of World War III and has given us valid hope. I believe it was an error that Truman did not ask Stalin to carry on further talks with Japan and also that the warning to Japan was completely inadequate. But I also think it was a damn good thing that the bomb was developed, that it was recognized as something important and new, and that it would have an effect on the course of history. In that world, in that war, it was the only thing to do. I only regret that it was not done two years earlier. It would have saved a million or more lives."

In our horror at the destruction caused

Sukarno Continues Insults

It seems apparent that President Sukarno of Indonesia is pushing his nation toward breaking international relations with the United States.

Actually there have been no recent conflicts between the U.S. and Indonesia mainly because we have been trying to avoid them. President Johnson sent Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker out to Jakarta in the spring to try to heal wounds but Sukarno prefers to keep them open. He rubbed in further salt when the new United States ambassador, Marshall Green, presented his credentials. Green was formally greeted by the president—and an anti-American demonstration of Communists and others on Sukarno's side.

Sukarno, like many leaders of new and

Looking Backward

State Fair Set for Janesville

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for July 27, 1865.

Messrs. Editors: After unavoidable delay on the part of the Society, the Wisconsin State Fair for 1865, to be held during the last week of September, has been located at Janesville, upon the grounds lately known as Camp Tredway.

These grounds are considerably nearer to the center of the city than those occupied last year—being less than a mile from the post office—are easily accessible even in wet weather, and, in themselves, are scarcely surpassed by any in the United States. They include as fine a track for trials of speed as can be found in any part of the country, and are to be well fitted up in every particular.

In view of the facilities afforded by the superior race course, arrangements are making for a magnificent contest of the fastest thoroughbred horses—premiums large, and competition open to the world. It is also the purpose of the Society to institute a more thorough trial of agricultural implements and machinery than has ever been made in the State.

With unusually large crops of every sort, with peare restored to our long distracted country, and with such a programme as is about to be issued, there would seem to be nothing whatever in the way of holding the most successful Exhibition ever held in Wisconsin since the organization of the State Agricultural Society.

25 YEARS AGO

James Hopfensperger, Robert Steffen and Kenneth Busse

it might be wise, nevertheless, for the highway department or interested legislators to write into the enabling legislation an explicit provision that the extent of the bonding authorized is what the sponsors said it would be at the hearing. That would be about $15,000,000 a year, which is modest enough when it is remembered that the state's usual construction program ranges up to $100,000,000 yearly, but it would be a substantial contribution notwithstanding. It must be remembered that the new money would be reserved for the major routes and the strategic sections thereof that have the most immediate prospect of fruitful use.

It is a typical dilemma in these times, that confronts our lawmakers. On the one hand it is clear that there is no prospect of success for enactment of new highway user tax legislation now for the financing of a larger highway construction effort on a cash basis. On the other, there is a demonstrable need, and a proved desire, for more expeditious highway improvements. This is the problem that has faced the policymakers at Madison in expanding plans for the higher education enrollment crush.

In the best of all possible systems of politics, the chances are that the state would not have fashioned the "dummy" corporations to borrow hundreds of millions of dollars for those purposes. But it has done so, nevertheless, out of necessity rather than choice. These columns have protested the means—having preferred an honest attempt to amend the state constitution to regularize the debt commitments—but it has become perfectly evident that our voice represented a minority view. The state has entered the dummy corporation business to such an extent that it now appears improbable that any administration, of whatever political complexion, will be able or willing to reverse the method.

in a brief moment by one bomb, we are apt to forget that many times that amount of damage was wrought throughout Europe in the earlier years of World War II. We forget that almost a whole generation of French and Englishmen were lost in World War I. We forget the wholesale destruction of lives and property in China, Poland, Greece and the Low Countries.

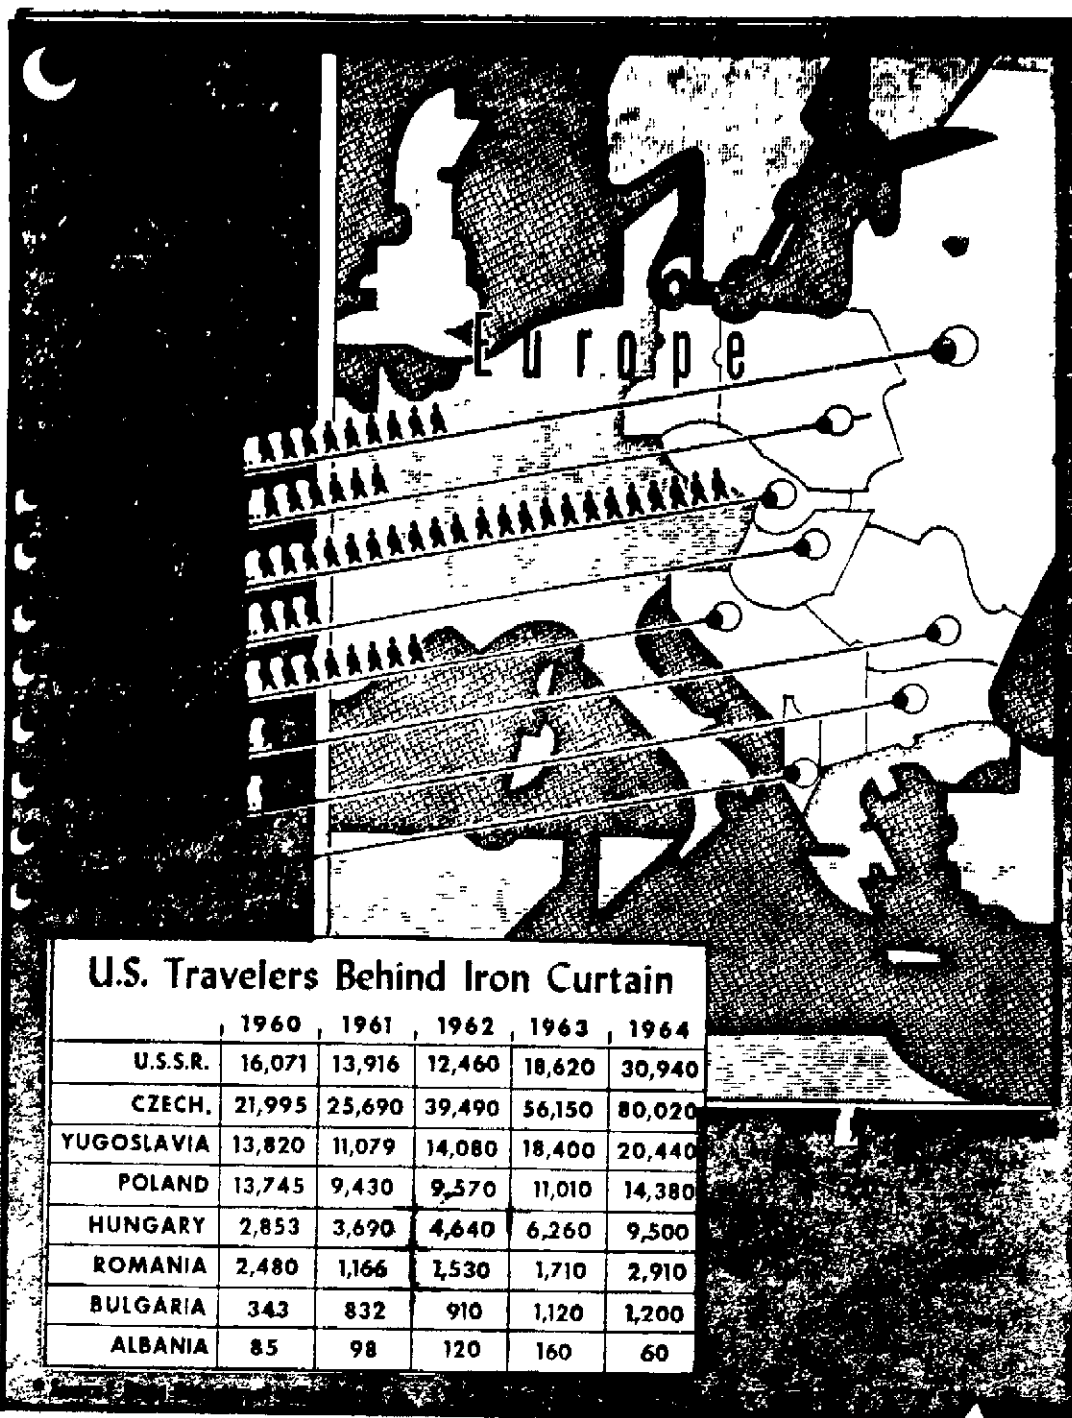

The argument will go on indefinitely as to whether the bomb should have been dropped or whether the Japanese could have been convinced to surrender with just a demonstration. But as Dr. Alvarez points out, "the world has not had a major war in the past 20 years and most responsible people feel the risk of a World War III has diminished steadily with time in these same years."

We are making every effort possible to negotiate a settlement of the Vietnamese conflict in great part because of fear of escalation into a major nuclear conflict. The Russians built the Berlin Wall but we do not breach it for the same reason and the direct confrontation with the dangers of a nuclear conflict made Khrushchev back down in Cuba.

To be sure the "wars of national liberation" have been developed by the Communists to try to avoid this danger and still win the world for communism. War as a national policy has not been completely abandoned as we are demonstrating in our involvement in Viet Nam. But much of the world treads a little softer in aggression because of the threat. And considering man's continuing greed for power, perhaps only the threat of horrible annihilation will keep him relatively pure.

old nations, really seeks only prestige and power. He appears to have decided that his chances for both lie in cooperation with Red China. Obviously this means that he foresees not only United States withdrawal from Viet Nam but an end to almost all Western influence and power in Asia. What he has not foreseen is that if this does indeed happen, there will be nothing at all to halt China's drive into Southeast Asia—toward Indonesia.

If for one reason or another the United States does leave Asia, the British abandon Malaysia and even Australia pulls inside its island continental borders, the only bright spot could be Sukarno's downfall at the hands of Red China. No one has asked for it more.

The Traveling Is Easy

Iron Curtain Being Lifted To Attract American Dollars

BY RICHARD F. NEWCOMB
AP Newsfeatures Writer

In a way it seems ironic: Communist countries fighting for the American dollar. The Capitalist dollar.

But they are, and it shows clearly in the tourist business. Just a few years ago it was nearly impossible for an American tourist to penetrate the Iron Curtain. Today, the Communists have virtually torn down the curtain. And they are using capitalist tools—advertising agencies, travel agencies, public relations. The scramble for the tourist business is most un-Lenin-like. But it is paying off.

Here Are Figures

It is hard to come by figures from the Communist side. But take some samples prepared by the State Department based on passport applications. In 1960, it appears, some 22,000 Americans visited Czechoslovakia. Last year the figure was 80,000. For the Soviet Union, it was 16,000 in 1960 and 30,000 last year. Yugoslavia, Hungary, Poland, Romania and Bulgaria are enjoying similar tourist booms, varying only in percentage of were Kaukauna boys chosen to attend NYA Camp Kentuck at Eagle River, near Phelps. The youths were chosen for their athletic ability as part of the NYA body conditioning program.

Miss Virginia Moore, Appleton, was granted a bachelor of arts degree from Western State Teachers College at Kalmarazoo, Mich. Miss Moore also was chosen as one of the soloists in the musical program presented by the music department at the close of the summer session.

Clement Fleming, Appleton, recent U.S. Navy enlistee, was a wireless operator assigned to Philadelphia from where his ship was to sail in early August.

10 YEARS AGO
Saturday, Aug. 6, 1955.

Polly Lee Meade, Appleton, won several awards for showing her horses, Fancy Harvest and Lovely Model, in shows in Wisconsin, Illinois and Kentucky in the previous few months. The 14-year-old girl retired the Mayor's trophy at the Milwaukee spring show by winning in the hurdle path class for the third year in a row.

Appleton Kiwanis Club delegates attending the Wisconsin Upper Michigan District meeting included Arnold Evans, president; Ed Douglass and Harlan Kirk. Members from the Northside Kiwanis Club attending were William Griffith, president; Clarence Mitchell and Armand Sindahl.

Advertising the Clintonville Centennial were several "Brothers of the Brush" who came to town in "The Battle Ship," an old 4-wheel drive auto. The bearded boosters included Roy Gensler, Russell Adams, I. C. Hohenstein, Harvey Handschke, Robert Hoffmann, Harold Weiland and Donald Graner. Hohenstein was Centennial chairman and Weiland was chairman of the parade scheduled later in the month.

increase Albania alone, among the Communist nations of Eastern Europe, remains a closed country. From a grand total of 85 Americans in 1960, Albania's trade shrank to 60 last year, although it did know a dizzying 160 American travelers in 1963.

As is most everything else in the Communist world, tourism is a state operation. Intourist handles it for the Soviet Union, Cedok for Czechoslovakia, Carpati for Romania, and so on. For the American wishing to visit, all is simplicity. Obtain a passport, get a visa (all Communist countries now emphasize how easy that is) and hie off to your favorite travel agency. The Communists do business through American travel agencies, and they pay commissions too.

Itinerary Planned

From then on, the changes begin. One does not simply ramble around Old Muscovy. One plans an itinerary—chosen from the list offered by Intourist, or Cedok, or whatever state agency—and one pays for it before leaving home. Departures from these norms (excuse the expression) are liable to cause surprise, consternation, refusal.

Part of this is undoubtedly due to the pathological fear of espionage, gradually receding but nonetheless still strong. Intourist often gives other reasons. It explains, somewhat sheepishly, that there are no accommodations in the out-of-the-way place you wish to visit. Or it says that the hotels are crowded in summer, why not come in winter?

But there is no doubt of the Communists' sincerity in wishing to encourage tourism. The Intourist office in New York offers a wall-high sheet of color brochures that might put the Miami Chamber of Commerce on its mettle. Cedok's travel folders make Czechoslovakia well-nigh irresistible. Romania and Bulgaria beckon from the pages of their tourist literature.

Some Restrictions

There is no glossing over the lack of plumbing, but this is made to seem unimportant, somehow, in exchange for the palaces of the czars, the castles of the vanished aristocracy, the glimpses of life in strange and fabled lands, the magnificent old churches in countries now officially atheist.

And the traveling is easy. You can enter from almost any place in Europe, by car, ship, train or plane. Intourist will even put you in the driver's seat, in limited circumstances, but the roads aren't much in East Europe, once off the main routes. If you're using your own car, bring your own spare parts.

Bring your own camera if you like, but be careful what you photograph. Don't take pictures from a plane, and remember that railway bridges, power stations and the like are sensitive. Film is hard to get; bring your own.

And when you leave the country, don't take any local currency with you. It's forbidden.

People of Appleton Don't Have Enough Water Facts

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The people of Appleton are not prepared to cast ballots on a water referendum. We haven't yet been given enough concrete facts upon which to base a correct decision, and any referendum at this time would only be a passing-off of responsibility by a city council that isn't too sure itself what to do. Ald. Ziemann has remarked (Post-Crescent 7-22-65) that he has seen very little opposition to a Lake Michigan project and ends his remarks by saying, "We could ask for a mandate from the people." To that I can only add that I haven't seen a groundswell of support for it either. I'm sure the people of Appleton are not indifferent to our real need for more treatment facilities, but we have had only emotional urgings to change sources.

The only public support for a Lake Michigan pipeline (other than government agencies or hired consultants) has come from the Outagamie County Democrats who have merely reflected the Post-Crescent's views with puff statements like, "The city should act boldly and adequately in seeking an adequate water supply," and "the people of Appleton are in

State Legislature Accepted Knowles' 'Crisis in Education'

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—If the legislature of 1965 is remembered a generation hence, it will almost surely be the result of a series of far-reaching enactments in the field of education pushed through during the last days before its recess a week ago.

As the lawmakers were settling down in their seats early in the year, Gov. Knowles offered them a sombre message entitled "Crisis in Education."

Wyngaard

The enactments of the legislative wing suit the solemnity of that speech title. In every major phase of the educational effort, not the least of which was financing, the legislature responded more imaginatively and courageously than perhaps any other since the formative days of the commonwealth when the first statutes declaring the ideals of free public schools were being enacted.

Without attempting to list them in the order of their immediate or long range importance, the reorganization of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education to give it true independence, the enlargement of the vocational and technical education program to put it within the range of all and to make all citizens liable for its support, the advancement of the compulsory age for schooling from 16 to 18 years, and the totally new concept of public treasury aid for private college students are historic in their impact.

GROWTH INDUSTRY

It is aptly said that education in all its ramifications is the leading growth industry in America. Wisconsin is typical of the country, as indicated by the fact, for example, that the legislature this year cheerfully provided that more than half of the largest state budget ever authorized will be spent on the public schools or educational services of an infinite variety.

Gov. Knowles, who came into office at a time of explosive demands for educational services expansion and critical problems of accommodating it financially, perhaps appropriately will have the opportunity and the obligation to preside over the new policy directions now established. His first big task will be the nomination of the majority of private citizens who will constitute the reorganized Coordinating Committee. The importance of those nominations can scarcely be exaggerated. In effect, they will control the evolution of the costly, essential and difficult higher education program of the state at its most critical stage.

Similarly, he will have the opportunity to direct the evolution of the vocational and technical school program, which he has repeatedly said has tended to be neglected and forgotten in the eager rush for collegiate education services. It is fair to say that as the legislature will be remembered for its educational policy making this year, the governor will likely be remembered for his pursuit of those new directions and the men he chooses to execute them.

SUBSIDIES

It is difficult to ascertain whether the legislature responded to the effective persuasion of the private colleges, or its worries about dangerous enrollment pressures in the public universities, when it adopted by astonishingly wide vote margins a wholly novel plan for paying private college students to reimburse them for a part of their tuition fees. Probably the influences combined.

Yet it is evident that there will be hitches along the way before the state treasurer actually honors subsidy claims from students under the new law. Many legislators had serious doubts about the validity of the plan. Is this truly an aid to the student or can it be interpreted as a grant to a private institution, including some church-related institutions, and thus subject to constitutional challenge?

Gov. Knowles appeared to support the legislation backed by the private colleges. But a court challenge is virtually assured under the circumstances.

favor of paying a few more cents to get the best water possible." (P. C. 7-16 - 65) Sounds simple doesn't it? The other Fox Cities should take heed, maybe they too can become progressive communities if they'll just go out and buy a symbol of progress and pay for it on an easy payment plan. These other cities because of their lack of interest in a pipeline have been written up as, "short sighted in their views," "provincial in their outlook," and "lack faith in the future of their community development." It just might be, of course, that they do have faith in their future and also a faith in their water supply.

In reply to Ald. Tews when he says "I would like to know what is holding up a decision." (P. C. 7-21-65) I can only suggest he review the two proposed laws that have still not been signed by the Governor. One would make it legal for communities to jointly venture into projects under a co-op ownership arrangement. The other would limit the powers of the Public Service Commission so that we won't be ordered to serve people from our water lines if we don't choose to. The outcome of this "spot" legislation would seem to bear heavily on our decisions, wouldn't it? The comments of Public Works Director Bues at the same meeting would also seem significant. He said in going to Lake Winnebago it would cost about $110.00 more per million gals. and a Lake Michigan project would cost $600.00 more per million gals. (Menasha is now providing water at a cost of $65.00 per million gals. (P. C. 3-9-65) To all this Ald. Mueller echoes. "The people should have their say." (7-21-65 P.C.)

I don't think the city council is much better prepared than the rest of us to vote on a subject so important as this with such a complete lack of specific facts. If the important specifics are not forthcoming soon on such points as the bacteriology, chemistry, engineering, legal, and financial aspects of our water situation, I will conclude that you consider us voters too stupid to understand such data or the information itself does not support the building of a pipeline to anyplace but a new treatment plant in Appleton.

This letter is not intended to add to the confusion of our water "crisis" or to embarrass anyone, but the time has come to pin down the responsibility by naming names and quoting quotes until we get some factual facts.

Donald L. Krabbe
1421 N Union St
Appleton

Editor's Note: The Post-Crescent now has in preparation a series of articles which we hope will answer Mr. Krabbe's desire for complete factual information on the Appleton water problem and possible solutions.

Fogging Should be Stopped

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Let's take the fogging machine on one last merry ride to the city dump. Then let's clear our city of all stagnant water places where mosquitoes breed and treat those places with pellets like we should have done in the first place. In addition to what has already been said against fogging, namely its being harmful to many forms of useful life such as birds and bees, we would also like to add that certain medical authorities contend that the diesel fuel oil which is used to convey the insecticides malathion and methoxychlor is just as harmful to the human respiratory system as the poisons themselves.

The fogging method of insect control makes no sense to us at all and the facts show it should be discontinued at once.

Two Citizens

Potomac Fever— by Jack Wilson

LBJ was really impressed by the new Mars pictures. There's no doubt about it—Mars would be a splendid addition to the Appalachia program.

The President's order to double the draft shows how serious the situation is. It's getting so bad we may yet have to call up Cassius Clay.

Barry Goldwater has an operation to relieve an old neck injury. Strange—it didn't look as though anything was wrong with his neck when he stuck it out last fall.

Rocky says he won't run for president in 1968. That gets rid of some uncertainty, but the picture won't be entirely clear until we hear from Stassen.

The pictures don't show any little green men, but who cares—as long as they don't show any Russians, either.

Classical Ballet Added To Festival Program

Sunday Audience at Fish Creek to See, Hear Works in Unique Experiment

BY JINGO

The Peninsula Music Festival will explore a new artistic dimension Sunday afternoon on The Gibraltar Auditorium stage at Fish Creek. With dancers Patricia Carleton, William Hug and Stephen Primis performing on a specially constructed platform, Dr. Thor Johnson will introduce classical ballet into the repertoire for the first time.

In what is admittedly an experimental effort, the trio will join the Festival Orchestra in a specially choreographed program of music by Alan Hovhannes.

Jingo

both she and her husband Gary Sigurdson are on the faculty.

Hug, head of the dance department at Interlochen, received his bachelor degree in physical education and master degree in the dance at the University of Illinois. He also studied at the Connecticut School of Dance and at Juilliard.

In addition to his impressive teaching credits, which include posts at Illinois, the University of Connecticut and Michigan, Hug has worked in several well-known dance companies as solo dancer and great choreographer. He also organized and danced in his own company.

Primis has been a member of the Chicago Lyric Opera Ballet Company. He has appeared frequently in ABC network television shows from Chicago.

Modern Version

Hovhannes' "Wind Drum" is a modern Western version of Noh, a traditional Japanese art form dating back to the 15th century. An unique blend of oriental music, drama and dance, Noh is an exceptionally subtle art form.

A native of Massachusetts but of Armenian lineage, Hovhannes has traveled and lived all over the world. He has an exceptional talent for adapting the idioms of many lands into his own distinctive music.

"Wind Drum" is described as a "lyric drama of thought," severely simple in construction and consisting of alternating sections of instruments and voices. Slow, sliding and basically non-melodic, the vocal parts will probably be presented by members of the orchestra, although this may turn out to be one of Dr. Johnson's surprises.

Ballet Suites

In 1950 Shostakovich wrote three collections of dance pieces which he simply called Ballet Suites 1, 2 and 3. Without any special order or plot, they consist of such set pieces as waltzes, polkas and galops. The "Ballet Russe" group to which Miss Carleton, Hug and Primis will dance is an arrangement of movements from the first two suites by the Russian-American conductor Efram Kurtz.

Miss Carleton and Hug will dance the famous pas de deux (duet) from Leon Minkus' "Ballet 'Don Quixote.'" Minkus (1827-1890) was a Viennese-born Hungarian who held a high place in 19th century ballet but has now been almost forgotten. As official composer for the Moscow Bolshoi and Imperial St. Petersburg Ballet between 1864 and 1886 he helped lay the foundations for the major ballet scores of Tchaikovsky.

Secret Agent Uses News as Cover Story

BY TV SCOUT

8-9 (Channel 2) — Secret Agent proves two undercover men are better than one as Patrick McGoonan, masquerading once again as a newsman, gets help from an American "newsman" (Charles Tingwell) in a colossal bluff to save a doomed Latin American hero from execution.

6:30-7 (Channel 4-5) — Flipper winds up the three-part adventure with the McCoy's Floating Zoo. (COLOR) R

6:30-7:30 (Channel 2) — Fanfare finally gets around to presenting the show originally scheduled to be the second in the series. Al Hirt introduces a fine array of talent, including beautiful Anna Moffo, Stan Freberg, Chad and Jeremy, dancers Edward Villella and Patricia McBride, and Dionne Warwick and Bob Maxwell.

7-7:30 (Channel 4-5) — There's a change of scenery for Kentucky Jones as Dennis Weaver takes advantage of a paid trip to New York (as a dog's chaperone) to take a vacation in the big town and renew old acquaintances. R

7:30-8 (Channel 2) — The castaways on Gilligan's Island, under the cultural guidance of Mrs. Howell (Natalie Schafer), form a symphony orchestra for their amusement. R

8-10 (Channel 4-5) — If you can imagine Bette Davis as a Bronx mamma and Debbie Reynolds as a Bronx daughter, speaking Paddy Chayefsky dialogue, you may enjoy "The Catered Affair" on Saturday Night at the Movies. R

8:30-9:30 (Channel 11) — Steve Lawrence is a pleasant host and fine singer on Hollywood Palace. Among the acts he introduces: Mickey Rooney and Bobby Van, Jean Fenn, the Back Porch Majority and assorted tumblers. R

9-10 (Channel 2) — Gunsmoke has a fine performance from John Dehner as an Italian immigrant who is praised as a hero when he kills an outlaw to protect his family, then denuded as a coward because he claims the reward due him. R

Dalliah Lavi, Israeli actress, was chosen sight unseen for the only feminine role in the movie version of the famous Joseph Conrad story "Lord Jim." She was chosen because of her Middle Eastern background that personifies the blending of East and West in Conrad's heroine. Peter O'Toole plays Lord Jim in the movie, opening Wednesday at Appleton Theater.

Oxen to Haul Sloop To Launching Site

ROCKPORT, Maine (AP) — Two yoke of oxen will haul the 25-foot sloop Old Baldy the five miles from its Camden boatyard to a launching site at Rockport.

It was a common practice in days of old to use oxen to transport sailing craft from their inland storage points to the sea. The Old Baldy is the latest of duplicates of the onetime Maine fishing craft which has won a new popularity with sailing enthusiasts.

'Chuting Stars' To Perform at Port Opening

"The Chuting Stars," a Fox Valley skydiving team, will perform at the dedication ceremony for the new Outagamie County Airport Aug. 22, according to Max Sagunsky, airport manager.

George Waring 417 E. Wilson St., Appleton, is leader of the team of three. Other jumpers are Terry Warrick, 646 Lake Crest Drive, Menasha, and Gerald Retzlaff, 1351 1/2 W. Summer St., Appleton.

The skydivers have a total of 10 years experience and 480 jumps among them, and have been performing as a team for audiences in the area for three years under different names.

Waring said he has been diving for 4 years and will have 200 jumps before the dedication ceremony performance. Warrick has two years of diving and 150 jumps, and Retzlaff has four years for 130 jumps, according to Waring.

The leader said their maneuvers would include rolls, turns, adjusting speeds while falling separately, and a baton pass and star formation by the three after falling 1,000 feet.

They will perform between 1 and 2 p.m.

Attendance at AST Workshop May Set Record

OSHKOSH—Registrations for the Association for Student Teaching workshop at Wisconsin State University—Oshkosh Aug. 15-20 indicated this may be the best-attended summer conference ever staged by the association, according to workshop officials.

To date, more than 230 participants have pre-registered. Another 105 persons have indicated they will accompany those registered. The AST workshop traditionally attracts family units who combine the meetings with a vacation outing.

Participants will represent most of the states. The general workshop opens on the evening of Aug. 15, and continues to the morning of Aug. 20.

A number of special entertainment events have been scheduled for participants and their families. On Aug. 16, the noted composer Rudolph Friml will present a concert at WSU's Little Theatre. On Tuesday, the group will take part in a "cookout hootenanny."

The afternoon of Aug. 18 has been set aside for a number of outings, including boat trips on Lake Butte Des Morts.

The group's annual banquet will be on Thursday evening.

Drifter Says He Refused to Kill

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A young drifter testified that the wife of a multimillionaire Texas banker and her nephew offered him $10,000 to kill the banker so they could continue a love affair.

Edward Diehl, 28, a carnival worker and ex-convict from California, said Friday the offer was made in 1962 — two years before Jacques Mossler, 69, stabbed 39 times and hit on the head with a blunt instrument, died in his Miami apartment.

Candace Mossler, 46, the banker's blonde wife, and Melvin Lane Powers, 23, have been indicted for first-degree murder and are fighting for release on bond before their November trial.

Diehl told a hearing that the kill-for-pay offer was made while he was working on Mossler's ranch near Galveston, Tex. He said he turned it down because "I have stole and cheated, but I ain't gonna kill nobody."

At the time, he said, Mrs. Mossler and Powers were living together in a trailer on the ranch.

Papandreou May Be Reinstated

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Political leaders have told King Constantine that the only way out of Greece's political crisis is to reinstate ousted Premier George Papandreou or call elections.

The leaders predicted that in either case, Papandreou, 77, is likely to get back the job he lost when Constantine fired him July 15 in a dispute over political activity in the armed forces.

Papandreou, head of the majority Center Union party, has expressed confidence that he will return to power either by royal mandate or popular vote.

The king has been consulting political leaders since Thursday, when the palace-backed government of Premier George Athanasiasdis Novas lost a confidence vote in parliament.

Winds Cancel Winnebago Sailing Event

OSHKOSH—Class "A" boat sailors are noted for being heavy weather sailors, but their favorite lake, Lake Winnebago, gave them an initiation Friday to this year's "A" invitational which would tire any sailor.

Starting the race in fine medium breezes, a wind squall from the west hit the 11 boats as the race was about half completed. The wind at first lessened considerably, forewarning an oncoming storm.

Even so, four of the big boats capized in the winds which blasted down on the "A's". Chief Judge Jack Haverty cancelled the race immediately, perhaps saving other boats from disaster.

When the cannon boomed to end the race, sailors quickly hauled down sails in preparation for a tow back to the mooring area. Some boats which had been sailing near shore piloted their crafts to the waiting docks.

The regatta resumed at 9 a.m. today with other races scheduled for 2 p.m. today for the Felker Cup, 9 a.m. Sunday and 1 p.m. Sunday, the latter for the Sawyer Cup.
